Halsey's Third Fleet Close To Japan Ready For Action

By JOHN R. HENRY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
GUAM, Aug. 14.—America's victorious ocean and air fleets rang with cheers and emotional rejoicing today when radio Tokyo's report that Japan had surrendered was flashed throughout the Pacific area.

Pilots of Admiral William F. Halsey's famous Third Fleet, their floating bases still lying in Japanese waters, hardly had rested up from Monday's great attack on the Tokyo area—probably their last blow of the war—when the report came through from Tokyo.

Some two hundred thousand service men who have wiped out the Jap fleet and with other commands, ventured the Japanese air force to the Japanese mainland, as genuine assurance that they need not go to the way of their buddies and shipmates who have died.

But even into the very last few

Pearl Harbor Gay As News Arrives

World's Mightiest Navy Base Stages Celebration—Noise And Lights

By MORT STONE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
HONOLULU, Aug. 14.—Pearl Harbor, scene of the enemy's first strike and the world's mightiest navy base, broke out into a blaze of fabulous color and light in an impromptu "victory" celebration last night.

The hilarious celebration began at 8:25 p. m. (Honolulu time) when news was received of the Potsdam agency flash that the Potsdam surrender terms were acceptable.

In the celebration which lasted 20 minutes, the entire harbor blazed with searchlights, tracer bullets, rockets and flares.

It was the most colorful display ever seen here. Forty searchlights sent lanes of light skyward from ships and land installations.

Truckloads of sailors rode through all the streets, singing, shouting, making all noise possible. They were almost drowned out by the blaring of ships' whistles. Snake dances filled the streets and the sidewalks.

Service men laughed and shouted with joy and the general thought seemed to be:

"Now we're going home."
Military camps and bases staged slapped-together entertainment. Extra editions of the two principal Honolulu newspapers were printed and sold like hotcakes.

Gov. Iragan M. Stanback issued a statement declaring that the formal V-J day celebration would come later coincident with the official Washington announcement of the end of the war.

All Honolulu stores and offices will remain closed today.

To Use Civilians At Military Posts

Discharge Officers And Men And Use Civilians Wherever Possible

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The War Department moved swiftly today to prepare for demobilization following the defeat of Japan.

One of the first steps to be taken will be the replacement of officers and enlisted men by civilians in military installations throughout the country, the War department announced.

The disclosure was made as the nation and the world awaited Japan's reply to Allied surrender terms.

Civilian personnel will be used to the maximum extent after the defeat of Japan, the Army statement declared.

There was mention of plans being already formulated for the speedy return to civilian life of more than seven million men now in the Army.

The purpose of this policy is to bring about a more rapid demobilization of the armed forces.

'PATIENTS' ON ALLEGED JAP HOSPITAL SHIP

Lined up on the pier of the Pacific island to which they and their "hospital" ship, the S. S. Tachibana Maru, former 17,000-ton inter-island steamer, were taken by the American destroyers as "patients" removed from the Jap vessel bearing the markings of a hospital ship. When the vessel was stopped in the Banda Sea and searched, it was found to be carrying machine guns and ammunition in cases marked "medical supplies" and "patients" who had no wounds. U. S. Superforts Hit Jap Rail Yards

Force Of 430 B-29's In What May Be Last Strike Of The War

By CLARK LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
GUAM, Aug. 14.—INS.—A force of 430 B-29s plus numerous fighters hit Japan today in what may be the last full-scale aerial blow of the war.

Shortly before the Federal Communications Commission heard the Jap Domei Agency reporting the Japanese government had accepted the Allied Potsdam surrender terms, the B-29s hit the Maru rail yards, the Hikari Naval Arsenal, and an army arsenal in the heart of Osaka.

The B-29s encountered no enemy flak or fighter interception, possibly because the Japs had already called off their fighters.

No Atomic Bombs

The B-29s and fighters swarmed over their targets even while the Japanese Imperial government was deliberating on the question of making a final capitulation to Allied surrender terms.

There were no atomic bombs released in these strikes at the aircraft.

Victory And Peace Pay Off For 300 Billion Dollar Expenditure

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The United States has spent 300 billion dollars and four years of unrelenting effort to crush Germany and Japan.

The pay-off is victory and peace. For the military and administrative heads of the nation, the prodigious expenditure meant enough of the best equipment in the right place at the right time to assure battle victories in the farthest-flung corners of the globe.

For the man on the street it meant spending money to save American lives by bringing the fight to the earliest possible conclusion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—INS.—Domei news agency said today that the "imperial decision" was transmitted on Aug. 14, 1945, Japanese time 8 p. m. (Monday PWT), and that the meeting people gathered outside the imperial palace, having in a "hold for release" basis was received by the FCC.

It did not give details of the imperial decision, but another Domei transmission said an important transmission will be made at noon August 15, Japanese time, 8 p. m. Tuesday—PWT.

No Official Word Received In London

LONDON, Aug. 14.—INS.—No 10 Downing street issued an official statement this afternoon declaring that no official confirmation yet has been received of the many rumors at present circulating about Japanese acceptance of the Allied terms of surrender.

The announcement said that "it is in the national interest that work should continue and that there be no departure from the normal routine until an announcement is received from No. 10 Downing street."

First Accident In V-J Celebration

First accident of the V-J celebration here occurred at the corner of East Washington and County Lane street at 8:30 the morning when David Davis, 14, of 903 East Washington street, and Cecil Caravelli, 13, of 806 Junior High street, fell off an automobile on which they were riding.

Both boys were rushed to New Castle hospital by James Ludwig of Highland avenue.

Jap Surrender Is End Of World War Two Most Complicated Seems But Hours Away

Peace Operation

Only Working Out Of Details Remains—But Details Are Highly Involved

KWANGTUNG ARMIES MAY NOT GIVE UP

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For U.S. Staff Correspondent)

The end of the war in the Pacific did not come in Sunday, August 14, as was forecast in this column of August 2, but the margin of error was narrow.

Japan's offer to submit to unconditional peace reached United Nations capitals on Friday August 14. It seemed then, and still seems, that only the completion of peace arrangements stand between the world and V-J day in the far east.

Most Complicated Peace

But Japan's surrender will involve the most complicated working out of details ever included in a peace-making operation.

The Japanese peace will still take time to work out. This is because Tokyo's cabinet is faced with the task of accepting the surrender of millions of its troops, numbering in the neighborhood of 2,500,000, who are completely outside Japanese command, some of them as much as 4,000 miles from Tokyo.

The inhabitants of the Japanese islands want to quit and the Pacific war has been nearly at its end. But how about the many Japanese armies that are scattered over the continent of Asia and about the far-flung islands of the Pacific? Will their leaders quit because Tokyo tells them to surrender?

What About Kwangtung?

Biggest and most powerful of the Japanese armies are the Kwangtung armies in the celebrated Kwantung group which occupies Korea, Manchuria, Inner Mongolia and parts of north China.

Reports estimate this group at somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 in strength. Its leaders frequently have defied orders from the Japanese government and have been fighting locally and thus far have suffered little from bombing.

Russians, Siberians, and Chinese armies have been assaulting Jap positions in Korea, Manchuria, and Inner Mongolia.

Start Probing Detroit Fire

Police Investigate Disastrous Fire That Claimed Lives Of 13 And Injured 50

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—INS.—Police pressed an investigation today into Detroit's most disastrous fire in 16 years which killed 13 persons and injured nearly 50.

Tenets of the injured are still in hospitals, most of them in serious condition.

Under arrest in connection with the fire at the Export Box & Scales company plant are three men. They are Mike Zarach, 48, Export employee; Philip Hoffman, 43, plant foreman; and Joseph Pischke, 33, superintendent.

Started In War Plant

Zarach told police the foreman and superintendent directed him to pour a highly inflammable liquid into a hot vat on the plant's main floor.

The fire broke out when Zarach, Hoffman and Pischke were in the second story. The firm exports airplane parts and other war materials in waxed paper coatings of paper and wax for shipping. Investigators believe that Zarach mistook a drum of the inflammable liquid for a safety fluid also used in the process.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—INS.—Gov. Edward Martin said today that he would order Pennsylvania state stores and taprooms closed for 48 hours simultaneous with President Truman's announcement of the war's end.

Out of respect for the more than 20,000 Pennsylvania boys and girls who have made the supreme sacrifice and their families, I will direct the immediate closing of all state liquor stores and licensed establishments under their supervision when President Truman announces that Japan has accepted the allied peace terms," the chief executive said in a statement.

There are 375 state stores and approximately 30,000 drinking establishments in the commonwealth.

MOSCOW, Aug. 14.—Russian forces in eastern Manchuria, bearing down what may have been a last-minute face-saving Japanese stand, continued to advance today toward the rail center of Harbin.

While waiting official Japanese word that the allied surrender terms have been accepted, the Soviet troops continued steadily from east and west. Yesterday alone, the Russians gained as much as 28 miles in a single sector.

Workers Celebrate Local Plants Idle

Almost All Plants Down As Workers Take Day Off To Mark Victory

Only one local plant of any size could be found in operation this morning and while many of the others were forced to close today because of a lack of manpower, the day was not reckoned as official V-J day by plant officials and in most cases, where the men laid off it was on their own responsibility.

Plant management had agreed to closed cases to restrict their employees to a one-day holiday, but official V-J day came and employees here to be paid for this day off.

The Aluminum Company of America was the only large plant which started its day operating today at full capacity.

Harry C. Sledge, general manager, said today that the company would allow its employees a holiday when V-J day is officially proclaimed, but that today was not being reckoned as that day.

At the plant of the United Engineering & Foundry company, attempts were being made to keep in operation today, but a great many of the employees failed to report and work this morning. Workers on the steel line laid off entirely, Harold B. Cummings, plant superintendent, stated.

The company plans to pay its employees for a one-day holiday on V-J day, but those who did not work today will not get paid for this day off.

The Johnson Bros. company, the Shinnong Brewery company, United Sanitary Manufacturing company, New Castle Rectifiers and other local plants were closed today.

Some plants, however, are still working today, but only on a skeleton crew. The company is expected to start work tomorrow.

Some Restrictions Are To Be Lifted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—INS.—This is the outlook for civilians as the Pacific war is treated its close.

Food supplies, especially meat, will remain tight. But OPA has held up the printing of the new ration book and a gasoline ration book both schedules for issuance in December, pending V-J Day developments.

Manpower—WAC controls will be swiftly lifted. About five million workers in aircraft and other war industries are expected to be temporarily unemployed during the four to six months after V-J Day.

Construction—Special WEP priority assistance will be granted for the construction of new churches, schools, public safety facilities, and new plants.

Transportation—OPA is completing a V-J Day plan which may ease civilian transportation restrictions.

Automobiles—Production may be boosted to more than 60 per cent by 1946 if steel and machine tools are available.

President Truman To Announce Surrender And Name MacArthur Supreme Commander

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The end of the second world war with its frightful toll of human misery and destruction appears to be only hours away.

The White House officially announced this morning that the Japanese surrender note is enroute to Washington. The announcement also said that the White House confidently expects the Japanese reply to reach the capital during the day.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told a special news conference:

"It looks as if we're at last nearing the end of the long vigil."

New York Blows Off Steam But—Its Premature

New Yorkers Blow Long And Loud On Horns When False Surrender Report Strikes

By WILLIAM STEELE
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—New York City had a classic double-take today when word of the Jap-announced peace acceptance hit the darkened metropolis.

Millions of potential celebrants discovered the news a first—perhaps reading on and recent false announcements—but once the message struck home they lost no time in working up to a frenzy of joyous thankfulness.

As in other celebrations, sirens, fire horns and the tolling of church bells from the waterfront encompassed the city in a heavy blanket of sound. Under that, as soon as landlubbers believed the tidings arose a second wave of noise.

Everybody Happy
Taxi and automobile horns, noise-makers and tin horns blown by exuberant youths, church bells and the hoarse shouts of delighted happy servicemen greeted what all hoped was the final, certain end of armed conflict.

Chinatown had been waiting for today for years and made the most of its advent. Fireworks were set off by the gross, say flags flung over drab life escapes.

Little Italy also went wild. And in Harlem musical instruments were brought outdoors for blaring jam sessions as negro servicemen were applauded for their part in bringing the war to a successful end.

Under the policy it was pointed out that the assignment of military personnel will be restricted to functions which require military skills or which, for training, security or disciplinary reasons, must be performed by officers or soldiers. The statement added:

"This means that thousands of jobs that might be filled by officers and enlisted men, including many administrative and executive positions in the War Department, the various commands and services, arsenals and kindred installations, and at posts, camps and stations."

NAVY AIRMEN REJOICE OVER JAPS' SURRENDER

hours before Tokyo's announcement came the fight went on without abatement.
A force of 430 Superfortresses—queens of the air that had Japan virtually whipped even before the two atom bombs were dropped—blasted the heart of the former mighty city of Osaka.

The B-29s thus may be credited with the last smashing blow of the war against Japan.

Late today, even though the Japanese radio announcement was taken at its face value, tight-lipped Admiral Nimitz and square-jawed General Spaatz remained ready to pick up the battle at any moment if the Japs break faith again.

The final fight of the war, save for mopping up operations against the probably pockets of Japanese die-hards, were fought in the air over an arena stretching for hundreds of miles on the sea where eight American naval craft picked the bones of the last of the Jap navy; and in the jungles where the ensuing foot-sloggers cleaned out isolated and by-passed areas.

Japan's last bitter tastes of Allied wrath were administered by at least two thousand planes under top command of Generals MacArthur and Halsey.

Speculation arose at once as to whether plans for signing of an armistice would bring the last-moment Third Fleet into action to execute its V-J orders.

With "Bill" Halsey's Third Fleet now so close to Japan, it was expected that the admiral would move his ships rapidly into key Japanese ports as a show of Allied strength, and to avert possible disorder.

It was believed that the fleet would be followed up within a matter of days by forces of the army of occupation.

This afternoon there still was no word regarding the location for any meeting with Japanese representatives to draw up definite arrangements for the armistice.

In the absence of any official announcement in this regard, observers speculated that the meeting spot might be one of these three: (1) Okinawa, considered most likely because it is most readily accessible for MacArthur, due to become commander of the occupation army; (2) Aboard a battleship or (3) in Tokyo.

The Superfort aircrews and ground maintenance forces had special reason to celebrate a prospective final victory over Japan because they believed that the Nips had been beaten down principally by air power while the nearest American forces were miles away from Tokyo on Okinawa.

pets and trombones, ringing cowbells and trailing junked cars, garbage cans and wash tubs.

One car bore five huge American flags, while other flags blossomed forth from the windows and on the porches of thankful homes throughout the city. Another car had an ugly, dwarfed chimney spread over the grill and just so there would be no mistake as to the identity of the creature, a large sign read "Hirohito, the Son of Hell!"

Impromptu Parade

The delight of hundreds of small children was the impromptu parade which marched to the music of some men from the Johnson Bronze orchestra and was led by Mayor John P. Haven, Postmaster William Hanna and George Thompson. Between the two officials, was a man in black underwear, while another man carried a life buoy, the mark of two red lips on his cheek.

Soldiers and sailors watched the celebration which meant the end of their fighting, and in residential sections guns were shot off in token of peace not of war. But the shouting was hushed deep in some throats too full to speak and many churches opened their doors to let people who moved quietly in and out.

I've seen the end of three wars," commented one elderly spectator. "I hope I've seen the last one."

An aged, white-haired woman just cried softly as she watched the crowd stream past. "Our grandsons a prisoner and he is coming home," her husband explained.

Keep Going

But even with the deep and solemn sorrow, the celebration relied on one group replacing another. Flares and lighted bombs soared to the noise of the guns, and when people tired of dropping cans after their cars, they took them off and tossed them. Premature V-J-Closed signs decorated store fronts all along the main street, and as people celebrated they were tenderly alert for the sound of "It's Official."

And while they waited in spite of uncertainty and confusion, the town was a noisy house.

"It's close enough for us to laugh," one woman shouted. "And think of all the hellows we'll be seeing soon."

JAP SURRENDER IS MOST COMPLICATED PEACE OPERATION

Kuo and Mongolia since Marshal Josef Stalin's declaration of war last week. Can the Tokyo cabinet call off its Kwangtung dogs before this battle is fought to a finish?

Then there are the Japanese armies in China, French Indo-China, Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. It will take some time and it may require considerable persuasion to get all these groups to surrender.

Last of all there are the remnants of the Japanese garrisons in New Guinea, New Britain, New Ireland, the Truk group and the many isolated islands of the Pacific which have been by-passed by the allies.

Some of these units have not even been in touch with their home government for more than two years.

NATION HAS SPENT TREMENDOUS SUMS

262 billion dollars, an increase of more than 217 billion dollars over the pre-war figure.

In addition, the war years brought a vast increase in tax rates and the number of taxpayers to enable the administration to collect and spend 138 billion dollars.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30, tax collections were more than eight times as great as in the last year of peace, and the number of returns filed rose from 20 to 80 million.

And over and above this burden the public dug down to purchase more than forty billion dollars in war bonds.

With this record of astronomical government spending behind it, however, the American public cannot hope for an immediate return to pre-war levels of government tax collections or expenditures.

Promise Reduction
Administration officials have promised tax reductions after the end of the war, but the aftermath of the struggle will demand for many years a federal budget of more than 25 billion dollars annually—more than twice the cost of government during the years preceding the war.

Congressional leaders see no immediate removal of war taxes from the federal statute books. But despite the abnormal size of the expected post-war cost of government, economists see a bright side to the picture.

If the national income of the war years can be maintained in the post-war era, they contend the public will be much more able to support the government at 25 billion dollars annually than they were at less than half that figure with the lower pre-war rate of national income.

the Swiss legation in Washington had been informed by Bern that the Japanese surrender note had reached the Swiss capital.

This note is now being decoded for transmission to Washington. Thus it appears that the curtain soon will be hung down on the bloodiest and cruellest war in history.

Secretary of State Byrnes, after an early morning conference with President Truman also added his belief in speedy developments.

On leaving the White House Byrnes was asked if he expected any news today.

Yes, was his reply. Although the official Japanese note had not arrived in Washington, the secretary said, "I am assuming nothing," he replied.

The presidential secretary emphasized that it would take some time to decode and transmit the official Japanese reply from Bern to the Swiss legation in Washington.

As a consequence of the morning conference of the governing conference between Byrnes and the president, Byrnes was asked if Mr. Truman had a threat of the Japanese reply before him.

The secretary said he did not know. When will the cease fire order be given? Byrnes was asked.

He replied that this would be given out along with other orders, water and the industrial regions of Manchuria.

Peace To Bring Many Problems

Japs On Islands May Decide Not To Surrender—Would Mean Dirty Fighting

By JOHN B. LEONARD

For six years, less 20 days, the world has been at war—a war from which the Allies have emerged as victors.

A peace is in the process of being achieved—there would seem to be no other way to express it—and nations the world around must begin to set to rights their staggering economies, their shattered cities, and their governmental houses.

Not Minor
Such problems are not minor, in any sense of the word, but they do not seem important at this moment, immediately before the guns actually cease to fire.

One cold hard fact remains, no matter what notes in fine diplomatic language are exchanged. Implementing the peace on a score of Pacific islands, in the jungles of New Guinea, Borneo, Malaya, the Celebes, Ceram and Halmahera will be a foul and dirty job.

It cannot be assumed, for instance, that most of the Japs on Bougainville will surrender merely because Allied planes drop informative leaflets telling them the war is over. The 18,000 Japs on that island have been sneaking through the woods in the bitterest kind of jungle fighting.

Furthermore, the Japs on Bougainville have been showered from time to time with much Allied propaganda. There is no way of telling how they will react to news of Hirohito's capitulation.

Still Hold Rabaul

The estimated 30,000 Japs still holding Rabaul on New Britain also may have plans which do not involve surrender.

On those islands where the American navy's blockade has been one hundred per cent effective it can be assumed the Japs will surrender. They will be ill and starving.

But New Guinea will present an entirely different circumstance. The western reaches of that island provide shelter, food and water for approximately 100,000 Japanese soldiers. Their stores are mountainous, according to the most recent intelligence reports.

In Good Health
Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander-in-chief of the Australian forces, knows for a fact that the majority of the Japs remaining in New Guinea are in better health than the ones they arrived on the island. He knows also that they have occupied themselves with the construction of extensive fortifications.

Laves will be left when the time comes to approach the Japanese troops still holding isolated portions of the stolen enemy empire.

The real test of the Jap mentality, face and the testing will be a task to leave men.

But it is painful and terrible to think that look after the war is over Allied soldiers must make their way up some by-passed beachhead, wading in the backwash of a conflict ill-conceived and ill-starred.

domination of the mikado and his minions, the Soviet legions of Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky captured a number aimed at Harbin and water and the industrial regions of Manchuria.

New Gains
The official Moscow communiqué, which made no mention of a Jap reported Red amphibious invasion along a 50-mile front of the Jap-held portion of Sakhalin island just north of Japan, announced new gains in eastern and western Manchuria.

The Soviet communiqué, dealing with operations on the 15th day of the new Russian advance, also announced the capture of at least 22 important communities in Manchuria.

An air force continued its blows against Manchurian railway junctions. The communiqué added, indicating that the red army troops were enjoying the continuing support of powerful Russian bomber and fighter formations.

The communiqué did not mention the Korean sector where Soviet amphibious forces already had landed and seized the important ports of Rashin and Yalu.

Fashion experts would probably shudder if they could have seen New Castle women early this morning. The early announcement of surrender caught local women a trifle off-guard—and so all types of morning attire were in vogue.

Local women played a big part in the joyful celebration, and whether they were in pajamas, housecoats or house dresses, it made little difference. In a few instances, curls were in evidence, and women were literally caught with their hair still up.

Anything was in style and women from 17 to 30 were seen in what they probably won't see again. Post-occupation of the past four years, let alone this morning in what a flow of time that conduct the morning wardrobe. It was almost as if the first many women, called their morning attire.

Anything went, and so far anything will do.

FAITH ARE WE RIGHT?

There has been a great many changes in the way things are being done in the last few years, and these changes, in most cases, make it much easier to do the same thing.

There is one custom that should be changed, and that is, three farmers get together to thresh grain. The old way is for the ladies of the house to work two or three days, get up a great feed and be worn out after the threshing is done. Then if it rains a lot of times, this has to be done two or three times, before the job is finished.

These same people that get together to do this threshing, will go to a public or ball game, and eat a sandwich, or do without any. Why not have them take their lunches or dinners with them like the men that work in the mill and save the farmers' wife with all her many duties, this worry and work, three or four times in a season.

Political Leaders View 1946 Campaign

Gov. Martin Possible Candidate For U. S. Senator—
Democrats May Run Spaatz

By JOHN PAGET
U. S. Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Republican and Democratic leaders looked ahead today to the elections of 1946 when the voting strength of Pennsylvania's more than 1,000,000 service men and women may herald a new political trend.

Party chiefs anticipated a powerful third party to be pre-empted but rather expected veterans to return to respective party folds to exert their influence.

New Interest
Politicians had little doubt that the end of the war would pump new interest into elections especially in 1946 when voters will go to the polls in November to elect a governor, lieutenant governor and hundreds of other officeholders.

Gov. Edward Martin, rounding out his third year in the executive mansion, may be the regular GOP candidate for re-election, but now held by U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Gurnea of Pittsburgh.

At Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., of Greenwood has shown some inclination to be an independent candidate for governor but has made no decision. Some GOP leaders, however, believe Bell would rather serve as attorney general under the next governor in order to follow in his father's footsteps. John C. Bell, who died in 1935, served as attorney general from 1911 to 1915.

May Draft Spaatz
Democrats may rally behind Gen. Carl Spaatz of Boverton, but state-military have not been active.

Candidates of the regular factions of both parties were expected to be slated by the end of the year. Voters also will elect a senator at internal affairs next year along with 33 congressmen, 208 state representatives and 25 state senators.

In addition, members of major parties will select new state committees which will elect the chairman to guide them for the next four years.

GOP State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor of Harrisburg was expected to step down in favor of former State Senator C. Harold Watkins of Franklin, law secretary of the senate.

David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Democratic candidate for mayor of Pittsburgh, has not indicated any desire to relinquish the state chairmanship of his party but if he is defeated he probably will be replaced.

The world may not learn the official text of the Japanese surrender until about 29 hours after its dispatch. This may have been due to bad radio conditions or garbled transmission.

Meanwhile the Big Four speeded their plans for occupation of Japan. Gen. Douglas MacArthur was their choice as supreme commander. It was a day of fluctuating emotions throughout Washington—even in the White House.

Official War End Puzzles Officials

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Attorney General Tom C. Clark said today that the justice department is working on a legal definition of when the war officially ends. Clark conferred at the War House this morning with Judge S. Wood I. Posnerman, special counsel to President Truman.

The attorney general explained that it is necessary to determine legally when hostilities actually cease from a standpoint of terminating certain war-time agencies as well as war-time activities.

The formal edition will be ready in a few days, he said.

Peace Will Bring U. S. Navy Now Largest War Work Cutback In The Entire World

Estimate 150,000 To Be Laid Off Within Week In Chicago Area

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Peace with Japan will mean the laying off of more than 150,000 war workers in the Chicago area within a week, it was estimated today.

Charles Cheade, executive secretary of the joint program information committee, a liaison organization between the war agencies, said this figure represented approximately 20 percent of the 515,000 war workers listed for this area by the war manpower commission.

The length of the lay-offs, he said, depended on the speed of reconversion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Government officials insisted today that 95 percent of the 18,000 prime war contracts in the New York-New Jersey area probably will be canceled soon after peace is officially declared.

War contract holders were cautioned to familiarize themselves with papers work necessary for filing claims for compensation on contracts canceled before completion.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Between 34,000 and 35,000 workers in war plants will lose their jobs soon after V-J day in nine western Pennsylvania counties under the control of Patrick I. Fagan, area War Manpower Commission director.

Fagan said yesterday most of those who will lose their jobs will return to their homes. He said he expected the employment reduction within 90 days after the Japanese surrender.

Governor Walks Out On Military Ballot, Democrats Declare

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Secretary of the Commonwealth C. M. Morrison and the Democratic State committee were at odds today over the "intent and purpose" of Pennsylvania's military ballot law.

The committee charged in a statement that Gov. Edward Martin and the state elections bureau had "nullified the intent and purpose" of the law, enacted in 1944, by failing to proclaim a "military ballot day" for servicemen.

Morrison explained that repealing and substituting legislation was suggested by the general assembly this year and it would be illegal for the chief executive to proclaim a military ballot day.

The Democrats accused the governor of "walking out" on the soldiers.

He denies the split and intent of a measure which in 1944 he was proud to sign, they declared.

A closer study of the election laws by a competent legal authority would enable the Democratic State committee to avoid causing needless confusion among Pennsylvania servicemen and their families, Morrison replied.

Officials Probing
St. Louis Hanging

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—(INS)—
Two boys, aged 13 and 16, were today in connection with the hanging of a seven-year-old fellow inmate of the St. Louis training school.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Adams said the dead boy, James Driskill, was beaten and hanged following a fist fight with a 15-year-old youth. A 16-year-old companion said officers that he was compelled to assist in hanging the child from a tree on the school grounds.

The victim, son of a family of ten, was committed to the school for truancy.

U. S. Staff Correspondent

On the morning of Dec. 7, 1941 the United States Navy consisted of 7,695 craft of all types and wasn't even a big league one-ocean navy.

A few minutes after the Japanese made their treacherous attack the U. S. Navy was a joke.

Yet four years and four months later the U. S. Navy consisted of more than 100,000 ships and was the mightiest naval striking force the world has ever seen. It was capable of dominating all of the oceans of the earth.

Greatest Achievement
The construction and efficient use of the United States Navy probably was the greatest achievement of World War II, not overlooking the atomic bomb.

How was this enormous task accomplished? Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief, U. S. fleet and chief of naval operations, gave the answer in a nutshell in his report of last March. He said:

"Naval accomplishments in this mechanized age are dependent upon production. The best officers and men can do little without an adequate supply of the highly specialized machinery of warfare."

The genius of American research and industry has put us a long step ahead of our naval enemies in effectiveness of ships, planes and weapons. As regards quantity of ships, planes and weapons, the balance of power is also decisively on our side.

Greatest In World
"The magnificent productive capacity of the United States has given us the greatest Navy in all history."

That magnificent productive capacity is best illustrated in the Navy chart released a few months ago. And when you read these figures you must remember that a ship even the simplest kind is a terribly complex. Construction and arming of a battleship or a carrier is one of the most perplexing building jobs ever faced by man.

On Dec. 7, 1941, the Navy chart shows the Navy consisted of 7,695 craft of all kinds and very few of them were modern. Eight months later, in August 1942 when the invaded Guadalcanal there were 12,000 vessels in the Navy.

In July, 1943, when it crashed into Africa the Navy had 20,111 vessels and in November of that year—when we invaded Tarawa—it had 26,662 vessels.

One month later the Navy boasted of 32,179 craft. In June, 1944, when we invaded the European continent, it had 37,000 vessels. Two months later, in August 1944, when we invaded southern France we had 38,000.

Our productive machine was really in its stride then. By January of this year, when we hit Luzon, we had a bona fide two-ocean Navy consisting of 52,862 vessels.

One month later at the time of Iwo Jima we had 80,322 and in May of this year when we invaded Okinawa the Navy consisted of more than 100,000 craft.

No nation or group of nations could match that record.

Expansion In Thirties
The Navy really began its expansion in the late thirties and the seed for the great building program was sown then. It was a slightly earlier seed of course. In 1941, for example, there were only 150,000 experienced shipbuilding craftsmen in the entire country.

And a year or so before that our Naval construction program was based on a production of about 50 ships a year. But, as Admiral Nimitz said:

"We planned it this way, however, that the start of the war would have been a last-minute effective in the vast areas of the Pacific. And earlier warships would not have been what it was without the invention of the folding airplane wing which enabled a big carrier to handle 100 planes."

And above all the contribution of nearly 4,000,000 naval officers and men, most of them landlubbers before Pearl Harbor, cannot be overlooked.

Discussing the Navy in his report to the president last February, Navy Secretary James Forrestal said:

Keep Control
"After the war the United States and its Allies should keep fleets capable of controlling the world's oceans. Such power is not inconsistent with plans for international collaboration, because our contribution to world peace must be threefold."

"Participation in a society of nations dedicated to a peaceful, just and decent ordering of world affairs."

Willfulness among our people to fight, if necessary, for a world order in which our way of life can endure.

"Retention of the weapons with which to fight it we must—because the means to conduct war must be in the hands of those who hate war."

"A powerful Navy is one of those weapons, an indispensable one."

Rotarians Hear Lillibridge Talk

New District Governor Gives Report On Meeting Recently In Chicago

District Governor Charles W. Lillibridge of Smithport addressed members of the New Castle Rotary club at its noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton Monday when he paid the local club an official visit and reported on a conference at district governors held recently in Chicago.

Mr. Lillibridge, who was here three weeks ago in connection with a conference of presidents and secretaries of clubs in the local area, stated that he would report as a result of the district assembly, held during the last week of July, that the club of the 175th district were doing their part.

Relative to the national conference in Chicago, he found that Rotary in its 40 years of existence has grown into an organization of 4,449 clubs and 247,000 members, and that like all organizations, which attain any size, has a great headquarters in Chicago, which has already grown its quarters five times.

The need is now present for a permanent headquarters large enough to conduct the business of the organization, and for which a million dollars is needed. A building is being built up for this purpose, which has averaged $100,000 a year since 1920.

Three great principles are being followed by the Rotarians: Internationalism, democracy, and service. The Rotarians are working to increase the number of clubs, to increase the membership, and to increase the service of the clubs.

Hats To Be Higher, Probably Funnier

Uncurves, Stove Pipe Crowns, Brimless Berets, Go Ahead, Read It For Yourself

By JEANETTE SMITS
U. S. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK Aug. 14.—What does a woman look like in a hat? Generally speaking, two things. The hat must be smart and it must be becoming to her features and her personality.

Unfortunately, it must be added, before the masculine contingent has a chance to interrupt irreverently, she isn't always able to achieve this ambitious aim.

This fall, however, Miss America—and her mother—should be able to find new headgear which is actually attractive and chic in a variety of silhouettes and colors.

The prevailing line, imparting a lift which flatters almost any face, is the wide brim, the outstanding feature of the autumn 1945 hat designs, according to the military fashion bureau.

Hats as a whole will be higher than they are now. Some stove pipe crowns will be seen, but most of the taller crowns will be modified and manipulated for greater flattery. There also will be upsurging lines in the manner of the bygone days, with brims that jut up and down in front, similar to a director's bucket, with brims, narrow brims, and profile brims of various widths.

Berets and toques are another important fall fashion. They range from the simple schoolgirl basque to the sophisticated, elaborately draped toques in velvet and felt.

This season's turbans harmonize with the new contour-conscious clothes. They're varied in shape, but elegant in detail.

For the women who fell in love with the topknot hairdo in warm weather and continue to wear it, there are occasional turbans and tall bonnets with open crowns in fall materials and colors.

There's no color that isn't good this fall. Brilliant blue is high fashion. Navy will be seen, especially smart when combined with brown shantung and veil. Pale ice blue, brilliant peacock and greyed blue.

shades will be evident. Browns range from dark rich chocolate tones through copper, rust shades to pale gold.

Greens follow the yellow green olive shades through topic tones to deep hunters green. Popular for trimming are Chinese cherry, rosy pink and "pink pink."

How about shoes? At the moment, production outlook is unpredictable because of world conditions, the production outlook is unpredictable. But leaders in the shoe industry say the open-back, open-toed shoe so popular in spring and summer will continue in first place.

Suede will be the No. 1 material, but demand is expected to exceed supply.

Mercer Officer Dies In Crash

MERCER, Aug. 14.—Major Edgar Shugert Ingraham, who has been serving as chief of laboratory service in the 142nd base hospital in India, was killed in a plane crash, presumably in India, on August 6, according to a war department message received by his mother, Mrs. Edgar Ingraham, of Mercer. The major would have been 35 years old Monday.

Maj. Ingraham's wife and two children were spending their vacation at Cape Cod, Mass., when the message came, and arrived by plane last night. His father was the late Dr. E. S. Ingraham who was associated with the Mercer Sanitarium.

Senate To Consider Unemployment Pay

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
U. S. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON Aug. 14.—Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the senate finance committee, on Monday summoned the committee to meet on Wednesday, August 29, to consider a bill to assure unemployed workers maximum benefits of $25 a week.

The Georgia senator said that hearings on the measure would be held on the first day the committee meets with government officials and senators as the probably first witnesses.

should not be overlooked that while a Class B Justice of the Peace has no jurisdiction over felonies or misdemeanors, all misdemeanors come under his dominion, and it is within his authority to sentence an offender to a year in the county jail or industrial camp time him One Hundred Dollars, or both. And that, my fellow countrymen, is no joke.

"It has been my observation that a habitual scofflaw or first-offender is usually ready and willing to sweeten the till of the Justice Court with a few paltry dollars in extenuation of his offense, but when a month or two in the county jail is mentioned, they change expression. No one with a remaining ounce of self-esteem or pride seems to care for looking through the bars from the inside. There again the 'joke' is no longer a joke.

"Frankly, in my brief experience, there have been times when it would have been more satisfactory to have sent the litigants up and released the litigants. This is not a criticism of lawyers, but they seem able to prove anything by the Bible.

When becoming completely lost in the impenetrable mazes of the law, I have recourse to the local department of the county for advice and counsel, but even that illustrious department is not averse to becoming austere and giving me distinctly to understand that while they are always pleased and willing to advise me on intricate points of law, they are most certainly not making my decisions for me nor setting my penalties. There is something heady about that reminder that that is what I am paid to do. That my guess on what penalties should be as good as anybody's, they say, imagine that! No wonder little judges grow pompous!

"But getting back to the everyday duties and responsibilities of the home town judge, it is not so much the cases of record that test the judgment or endurance of the obscure jurist. Almost any school girl could fix a schedule of fines for traffic violations, for instance. And it does not call for any straining of the mental faculties to seek a culprit for assault and battery or for disturbing the peace.

"But when someone comes into the private office and closes the door behind him or her, as they do every day of the week, that is the signal for the judge to sit up and take notice for he is about to hear something interesting. If it is a handsome young woman, it is not always the easiest thing in the world to remember you are a judge and not just a man who is receiving a social call from a beautiful woman.

One has something of grave importance to her, on her mind and she has to tell somebody about it and possibly ask their advice. Frequently it is domestic trouble and a divorce is contemplated. They think because a judge can make them he can also unmake them or divorce them.

But every right the judge should stop the young woman right there and inform her that divorces are outside his jurisdiction. But a little stream of devil pops in and swags the day. Human curiosity wins in a walk and with sympathetic understanding the judge relaxes and listens to the story of domestic unhappiness. There are certain compensations to a judge's life. One of them is to appraise a stricken conscience for it seems that the complainant is often relieved just to get it off her chest, and just as often it has happened that that is the past of it. Almost every man at some time or other has had his own imperfections to square. Sleep over our's, a reference often reduces their intensity and tossing divorce proceedings into the legal hopper without full consideration of the consequences is frequently fraught with more unpleasant and embarrassing results than to patch up the differences and going ahead with the brute. Twenty-two wedding ceremonies have been performed by this court in four months, and at least three or four prospective wrecks have been salvaged.

Furthermore, there is no ritualistic wedding code employed in this court for uniting palpitating hearts. I don't read any ceremony. My father was a minister and I was brought up on weddings. I take a look at the happy couple then, a happy when they come in and give them the ceremony most befitting their appearance. Only one ceremony is necessary to make it binding and that is the truth when you tell them that. By virtue of the authority invested in me by the State of California, I pronounce you man and wife. Whatever else the master of ceremonies may elect to throw in is mostly to satisfy his own vanity and impress the victim with his own eminence. However, I do bear down on one admonition and that is that the ceremony does not guarantee their success or happiness. That is up to them. It only provides the ritual and the opportunity. And this also is a judge's responsibility that is no joke. Ask anybody who has been through it.

"Then, there are the neighborhood spats. Somebody's dog is chasing somebody's cat. Some one's chickens are foraging the neighbor's garden. There are strange goings on every night in the house across the alley, singing and shouting until all hours of the night—and judge, it doesn't look good to me with strange men coming in and out. I think you should do something about it."

"Unpaid bills come in for their share of the home town dispute, and people who have been good friends and customers for years finally land in court, tell contradictory stories, based on "harm done" records and expect the judge to render just and impartial decisions fair to both sides. If you are a sincere Justice of the Peace you will want to do just that, but from where you sit, what you say goes. And that is never a joke.

"Very well, judge, you say, if you don't like it, you can leave it to serve. And that is where the strange quirk of human nature makes its appearance. Why should any man want to sit in judgment over his neighbors' spats, quarrels, disputes and mistresses? And if you insist upon an answer, I am compelled to confess that I guess there is a little of the lion in all of us."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

do once, certainly not twice or three or four times. We don't dare trust ourselves. On careful guard we must, therefore, ever be if we are going to avoid needless trouble to ourselves and the child.

But again! Many of these hindrances will be practiced days and days and weeks and weeks before we ever grow conscious of their seriousness. Then, as we resolve to correct them, the resistance set up by the child are so strong and our feelings so touched by his tears and cries that we probably lose heart and surrender. Then, after a period, we set out with new resolves to attack the problem. Naturally the resistance of the child are stronger than before.

Muster Fortitude
Will we falter then or muster necessary fortitude to win? The chances are against us. Any parent reading this I guess finds many concrete instances rushing to his mind.

One thing is certain, the longer we delay decisive action, the more formidable the resistance to be overcome. When our reason rules we'll face the problem squarely, count the cost of more delay and take stock of our present resources. Then we'll face forward and let us hope win. Reflecting on our victory, we are amazed that we had lived so long before we had a backbone!

ROACHES

Roaches are bad company. They prefer to stay where it is dark. They tramp around over your food. They tramp around in other places too. They are not very welcome anywhere.

The best way to get rid of them is to deprive them of hiding places and food.

All cracks and crevices should be filled up smoothly. No place big enough to hide a roach should be left.

No crumbs of food should be left where a roach can get it.

Burning sulphur will kill roaches, but if your house is a good place for them you will soon have plenty of company.

In ancient times iron as money was rarer than tin. Iron coins were used among the early Lacandonians in Beniamin, Argos, Arcadia and elsewhere.

Van Zandt May Be State Candidate

Former Congressman, Vet
Of Two Wars Considered
As Possible Candidate

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)

A recent visit to Gov. Edward Martin by former congressman James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, now serving as a lieutenant commander with the Navy, has led political speculators to predict his return to public life. Politicians say the 46-year-old naval officer, indicated he would accept any offer by the G. O. P. to be candidate for the gubernatorial, senatorial or congressional nomination. They interpret as significant his long conversations with high ranking Republicans on Capitol Hill and a whirlwind schedule of speaking tours during his 30-day leave.

Van Zandt, who has been in uniform for over two years and participated in 20 Pacific campaigns, has told friends his chief concern was assisting in winning the war.

He emphasized, however, that he hopes to resume his role as a politician. G. O. P. leaders said he had an excellent chance to return to Congress, where he served during the 1940 and 1942 sessions. He was three times national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and twice headed the Pennsylvania department. He served with the Navy in World War I and had more than 20 years training in the naval reserve between the two world conflicts.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—War-weary motorists hope that automobile rationing may end within four months were blasted today by a report released by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

"Reports that automobile rationing may end by January 1, 1946, are wholly without foundation," stated a report of the PMP's parent organization, the American Automobile Association.

There is nothing like that in prospect, even if the war with Japan should end tomorrow, the report added.

The industry is in the midst of a terrific scramble for materials, a free-for-all with government taking a hands-off position as far as help is concerned," it said.

The report, prepared shortly before the Japanese government made its peace proposal to the Allies, continued:

"This is the free market for materials that the industry prefers. Because of war contracts some companies are in a much better position than others. The general view is that the quota of cars assigned for 1945-240,000 units, will be produced and probably well ahead of schedule.

"There is a very definite possibility that the quota will be substantially increased before long."

The report explained that new car pricing was causing "more concern" than any other phase of the automobile industry's reconversion program. It pointed out, however, that the OPA was "in the midst of an attempt to reach a working formula."

Woman War Worker

Stabbed To Death

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A woman war worker was stabbed to death today in the SKF Industries Inc. North Philadelphia plant.

The woman, identified as Miss Frances DiFrancisco, 32, walked in the plant infirmary and collapsed on the floor.

She was removed to a hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

John Santoro, 62, of South Philadelphia, a fellow worker of Miss DiFrancisco, was taken into custody on police.

Police pointed out Zedok Dumitrescu, 32, quickly a true lead can change from a thing of beauty to the thing of a confounded nuisance on the lawn.

Today Ten Year Anniversary Of Social Security

In Nation 80,000,000 Workers' Accounts: 6,132,000 In Pennsylvania In 1944

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Marking the tenth birthday of the Social Security Act, Peter Kaskas, regional director for the Social Security Board at 11 West 42 street, New York City, announced today that total payments under the old-age and survivors insurance, employment security and public assistance programs in Pennsylvania amounted to about $620,000,000 by the first of this year. The act became law when President Roosevelt signed it August 14, 1935.

Payments to retired workers and their dependents, survivors of deceased workers, the unemployed and the needy.

In Pennsylvania, the Social Security Board has full responsibility for the old-age and survivors insurance program. However, the state administers the unemployment compensation and public assistance programs, a fact which frequently is misunderstood, Mr. Kaskas said and explained.

Two Programs
There are two insurance programs—old-age and survivors insurance, which is a straight Federal operation, and unemployment compensation, which is run by the state with Federal collaboration. Then there are the public assistance programs—old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind—which are also run by the state with Federal participation in financing.

The first monthly benefits under this program were paid in Pennsylvania in April 1940. By the end of 1940, 27,100 men, women and children were on the rolls for $503,000 each month in benefits. By the end of June 30 of this year, the number had increased to 132,687 and the monthly amount of benefits to $2,476,217.

Month's Payments In State
June 1945 payments in Pennsylvania were distributed approximately as follows:

Total beneficiaries, 132,687, $2,476,217.
Retired workers aged 65 or over, 51,272, $1,246,565.34.

Wives, 65 or over, of retired workers, 16,517, $213,309.83.
Widows with young children, 16,319, $327,700.35.
Children of deceased or retired workers, 37,212, $486,037.32.
Aged widows of deceased workers, 65 or over, 10,718, $194,108.77.
Aged dependent parents of deceased workers who left no widow or child under 18 (65 or over), 649, $8,496.30.
Throughout the nation the system is providing minimum basic subsistence for more than 500,000 retired workers, and the wives of about 150,000 of them. On the survivor side, monthly benefits are provided for 33,000 aged widows, 143,000 widows with young children, 373,000 children and several thousand aged parents of deceased insured workers.

Accounts Reach 80,000,000
By the start of 1945 more than 80,000,000 workers had accounts established throughout the nation, and about half that number had gained insured status a year ago.
"In this state, by the end of 1944, 6,132,000 account numbers had been established, and in 1945, the best year for which final figures are available, 4,139,000 workers had earned wage credits towards benefits. The wages credited in 1943, averaged $1,302 per worker, and by the start of 1945, total wage credits in Pennsylvania amounted to $30,747,000.

Unemployment Compensation
While unemployment compensation payments have been at low ebb during the defense and war periods, a total of $743,764,000 had been paid out in Pennsylvania since benefit payments were started in January 1938, up to January 1945. Benefit payments are slightly on the rise at the moment, due principally to cutbacks, and a further considerable increase is expected during reconstruction.

Dairy Testers Needed In State

SEVERAL SEEK DIVORCES

Several applications for divorce have been filed in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar.

Dorothy I. Thomas seeks a divorce from Fred M. Thomas, on a charge of indignities. She resides at 706 Sixth street, Ellwood City, and his address is given as Plant City, Fla.

John Nick Piccuta is asking a divorce from Jane Beatrice Law Piccuta, charging indignities and cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married September 30, 1943, in Union township.

William Mason asks a divorce from Dorothy I. Mason, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married in Ellwood City, December, 1938.

Emaline Sumney is asking for a divorce from Walter B. Sumney, charging desertion. They were married at Prospect, Butler county, in November, 1932.

Doris R. Boyer asks for a divorce from Frances A. Beeler, charging desertion. They were married November 23, 1942, in Franklin and lived together in Wayne township until December, 1942, when he was called to the armed forces.

TAX DEADLINE NEARS

Only three more weeks remain for county taxpayers to pay their taxes at face value. On and after September 1, a five per cent penalty is added, so those who wish to save this penalty are warned to get in under the wire.

St. Vitus Sodality Conducts Meeting

Special Religious Talks Given At Monthly Meeting Of Church Sodalists

At a recent meeting of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Vitus church, reports were made by various committee heads. Prefect Mary Chilli was in charge and Moderator Sister M. Hildegard gave the opening prayer.

Heaven Cried of the Eucharistic committee urged the attendance to mass, the intention being for youths. She also gave a talk on private and solemn benediction. Josephine DeMase of Our Lady's committee spoke on the Assumption and later the group recited the litany of Loreto. The Apostolic committee, Ann DeMatis, asked for used stamps and cards to be sent to missions. The meeting adjourned with the presentation of used cards and stamps.

Philomena Grady of Catholic Truth committee, in conjunction with the Eucharistic committee, spoke on the vestments used by priests during benediction. She also displayed the vestments.

Social Life chairman Viola Tuscano reported on the picnic and thanked the committees.

An original playlet, "Gossiping", on Catholic action was given by the publicity committee. Those taking part were Catherine Misummarra and Dora Naples.

Thelma Phillips was chosen as the new bowling chairman. Sister Hildegard, the moderator, spoke on the welfare of the Sodality. A letter was read from former member Carmella DeLuca, now a postulant at the Order of Zelatrices of Sacred Heart at New Haven, Conn. Pictures of the various May crowning and Sodality activities were shown by Margaret Vallely. September 6 is the next meeting.

Hirohito Only Man To Make Japs Quit

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from British southeast Asia command headquarters, on Monday said that the emperor of Japan is the only man on earth who can make the Japanese garrisons in Singapore and elsewhere give up their arms.

Singapore, the dispatch said, will be a test case since Gen. Seishiro Itagaki termed the "cruelest Nippon fire-eater" recently was appointed commander in chief of troops in Malaya.

If Itagaki accepts the order to surrender, it was said, it is almost certain that garrison commanders throughout the East Indies and the southwest Pacific and China will follow suit.

Delay Printing Of Ration Books

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—An OPA spokesman said Monday that the printing of war ration book No. 5 and the new "A" gasoline ration book, both originally scheduled for distribution between Dec. 3 and 15, is being delayed pending official designation of V3-day.

The present gasoline ration book expired Dec. 21, and current food and shoe stamps are scheduled to be used late in December. Ration book No. 5 was slated to go into effect after Jan. 1.

The OPA disclosed on July 24 that 150 billion copies of ration book 5 which would be half the size of the present book, would be printed and distributed.

The trumpet call of the whooping crane can be heard as far as three miles.

That Ain't The Way We Heard It, Nip

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A Domei agency correspondent attempted today to minimize the damage inflicted by an American atomic bomb upon Hiroshima last week.

According to the Jap-controlled Singapore radio, the Domei writer reported after visiting the devastated city that the air raid shelters "were quite strong enough to resist the explosion."

"Although the destructive power of the new atom bomb must not be underestimated, there is much exaggeration about this in the American press," the enemy broadcast quoted the correspondent as saying.

CBS heard the Singapore transmission.

V-J Day Will End 14 Years Of War

Japan Started World Wide Conflicts In 1931 Attack On Manchuria

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Proclamation of V-J Day will end hostilities which have embroiled some part of the world almost without interruption since 1931.

On September 18 of that fateful year, Japan launched her attack on Manchuria. From then on, although the American public was more concerned with domestic affairs, the march of the war lords continued. Only a few diplomats and statesmen could see the flames spreading toward the United States.

Puppet State

Despite mild efforts to persuade Japan to observe her international obligations, she passed the Manchurian campaign set up a puppet Chinese government in that state, moved into Shanghai in 1932 and in January 1933 began extending Manchuria's boundaries into Jehol in North China.

Even before this, in 1932, war had also come to the western hemisphere. Paraguay and Bolivia became embroiled in the boundary dispute over the Gran Chaco. The American republics attempted to settle this war, which raged viciously at times.

An armistice was reached in December 1933, but it was short-lived. Hostilities terminated in 1935 but final settlement waited until 1938.

By then Italy was on the march. After Munich, Mussolini's horrids poured over the Ethiopian borders on October 3, 1935. Using mustard gas, bombers and heavy artillery against the scantily armed and almost defenseless Ethiopians, the conquest was easy. Addis Ababa, the capital, fell on May 6, 1936.

Slight Lull

There was a slight lull as Germany and Japan armed. On July 7, 1937, the quiescent Far Eastern hostilities flared out again. Jap and Chinese forces fell to fighting at the Marco Polo bridge near Peiping in North China. Japan's hostilities did not cease from then on.

Hitler moved into Austria on March 11, 1938. In the fall his troops went into the Sudetenland after the Munich pact had been signed. They over-ran all of Czechoslovakia in the spring of 1939.

Hitler almost immediately resumed his saber rattling and shouted his demands for Danzig and concessions in the Polish corridor.

Then on September 1, 1939, his troops invaded Poland. Two days later Britain and France, under their alliance with Poland, declared war.

Adding her share to the European discord, Spain contributed the civil war which started in July, 1936, and gave Italy and Germany as well as Russian an opportunity to test the implements of modern warfare.

After the Polish conflict had started the Nazis spread the war to all of Europe excepting for the neutrals, Switzerland, Sweden, Spain and Portugal. The Japs soon embroiled all the Far East. The flames reached the United States on December 7, 1941, and it became a second world war.

Man Jailed For Killing Of Two, Wounding Woman

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 14.—(INS)—James Covert, 44, of Hempfield township, was being held today in county jail in connection with the fatal shooting of two men and seriously wounding of a woman in Bordentown last night.

State police said Covert surrendered himself to authorities following the shooting.

The dead were Albert Sherman, 42, and Ollie Milton, 34. Lucille Morgan, 31, was critically wounded.

The shooting occurred in front of the home of Mrs. Sime Stover. The victims were found lying on the highway, state police said.

Nope, No Nylons Till First Of Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Japan's defeat in World War II will not mean a sudden return to suffering womanhood of sorely needed two-way-stretch girdles and nylon stockings.

The sad news was broadcast today by leading hosiery manufacturers and corset producers who had hoped that Nippon's demise would mean a rise in available feminine apparels.

Latest dope is that nylons won't appear in quantity on any counter until after next Christmas. Corsets may not reach the ultimate consumer for from four to six months after V-J Day.

State To Help Pay For Plans On Sewage Plants

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)—The state sanitary water board was ready today to apportion money to municipal authorities on a sliding scale for financing the costs of preparing plans for waste treatment and sewage plants.

The board reported the scale ranged from 3.25 per cent of works costing up to $10,000 to 1.65 per cent for plants valued at $1,000,000. Money will not be available for plans drafted prior to April 1, 1944.

Certain private industries, the board added, would be eligible to receive from the state grants ranging up to 50 per cent of the cost of plans for industrial waste treatment plants. Only forms dumping waste for which there is "no known satisfactory means of treatment" were made eligible for funds.

Additional money may be approved if additional experimentation is warranted for the benefits to be derived by the public.

State department of health has for some time insisted that the city of New Castle make major improvements at the local plant. So far council has not taken any steps to float a proposed $60,000 bond issue with which to pay for the improvement. Payment by the state of a certain amount to cover the cost of drafting plans would be large according to city officials.

One Policeman Hurt; Another's Clothing Torn

Although today was supposed to be the first day of peace for years it was not peaceful for Policeman Flinner and Cubellis.

While incarcerating Jake Regna in a cell the latter scuffled and when Flinner was forced against a cell he sustained a lacerated lip and leg abrasions.

Cubellis attempted to pick up from the street Howard Attie, New Wilmington, R. D. 6, and Attie, according to police came up swinging and Cubellis trousers were almost torn off him.

Mayor John F. Haven permitted Regna to go on his own recognizance with the case against him continued. Attie was required to pay $18.50, for damages to Cubellis uniform.

Half Million Cars Not Likely In 1945

Manufacturers Pessimistic Over Ability To Get Tools In Time To Do Job

By CYRIL LINDROTH U.S. Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Auto manufacturers were bluntly pessimistic today about the prospect of turning out a half million cars this year even if all steel restrictions are lifted by the War Production board.

Commenting on Washington reports that the WPB would release enough metal to build 500,000 cars in 1945, industry spokesmen pointed out that many other problems must be met before large scale production could be resumed.

First there is the problem of tools. The industry requires large quantities of dies, presses, and other heavy machinery immediately for even token production. Nothing like the quantity needed for 500,000-car output will be available this year, these sources say.

Even the Ford Motor company, the most nearly self-sufficient of all major manufacturers, would not be able to materially increase its output this year. A spokesman said it would require at least five months to get into full production despite the fact that the company's assembly lines are already operating.

Ford has completed 700 cars since July 3 and expects to turn out 4,000 this month.

Other large manufacturers, notably General Motors, Chrysler and Packard, are still up to their respective necks in war production. Spokesmen said that if the war ended today and all material restrictions removed immediately, they probably would require at least three months to process steel for assembly. This they said was making the most optimistic allowance for plant clearance and other reconversion problems.

A big-three production manager said it would require one-third of a ton of steel for assembly lines and tools for every ton going into the first half million cars. The ratio would be proportionately higher if quotas were increased.

Tigers Defeat Yankees Twice And Pad Lead

Senators Split With Browns To Drop Three Games Behind; Cubs Pad Lead

BOSTON BRAVES DEFEAT PIRATES

By CHARLES LINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—If Marv Joe McCarthy should suddenly retire once again to his Buffalo home, there will be no winners and losers among the baseball-playing public.

The Yankees dropped two to the Senators last night, 15 to 4 and 11 to 9.

The result gave the Tigers a three-game edge over the runner-up Washington Senators, who split with the St. Louis Browns. St. Louis took the first one 4-2, but the Nats hammered out an 11 to 3 victory in the afternoon.

Yanks Ship
Also as a result of their double defeat the Yanks dropped from fifth place to fourth on the A. L. ladder. The Chicago White Sox moved up into third on win of a 4 to 3 11-inning victory over the Philadelphia A's in a night game.

All in all it was a monstrous day in big league baseball. There were 10 games played and two of them resulted in shutout victories, but with it all the so-called major leagues managed to score the amazing total of 114 runs for and against each other.

The Cleveland Indians hammered out a 10 to 0 whitewash triumph over the Boston Sox.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Cards Win in 15th
Final score of the St. Louis-Boston tilt was 11 to 10 while the Boston Braves scored a 6 to 4 triumph over the Pirates.

The Cincinnati Reds were the victims of the other shutout perpetrated in the majors yesterday. The New York Giants applied a 2 to 0 whitewash to the hapless Redlegs, who have not won a game since the start of their invasion of the East last week. They've lost 10 in a row.

Second-Half In County League May End Today

Moose Playing At Wampum; Ellwood City At Edinburg In Postponed Games

Lawrence County baseball league's torrid second-half race may come to an end tonight. There are two postponed games being played—Moose club at Wampum and Ellwood City at Edinburg. Both games start at six o'clock.

If the Moose win tonight, the second-half race is theirs, but if the Moose lose to Wampum and Ellwood defeats Edinburg, it will mean the playing of more postponed games to decide the flag winner.

Moose Must Win
The Moose have won 10 and lost three to date. Ellwood has won nine and lost five. There is still a possibility that the second-half race can end in a deadlock. The Moose have to win one and Ellwood must lose tonight to make the Moose champions of the second half. Ellwood must win the game last Sunday with a 14 to 0 win over the Moose. In event of a Moose win tonight, the championship series with Ellwood starts Thursday evening at Ellwood City.

Elks Golfers Play Tonight

Elks Looking Forward To Great Day Sunday At Sylvan Heights Course

The Elks club golfers will go to the Sylvan Heights course tonight for another round of golf in their league. The matches will start at 6 o'clock.

There is a red-hot fight going on between the Martins and Paratroopers for first place in the second half.

The Elks are looking forward to this coming Sunday, August 19, when 17 Elks lodges from northwestern Pennsylvania will send golfers here for the big Elks roundup and all-day golf that gets under way at 8 o'clock. Several hundred Elks golfers will make the local many-course their media Sunday, and are looking forward to a big time.

News that baggage billings are now for sale to civilians give Zedek, Dunder and his crew a fellow. Despite the transportation line-up, tonight's Elks roundup is on.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

TWO minor leaguers have been acquired by major league clubs. One is Roy Zimmerman, hard-hitting first sacker of the Newark club of the International League, obtained by the Giants, and the other is Sherman Lollar, Baltimore's power-hitting catcher, picked up by the Cleveland Indians. Zimmerman has been in the minors since 1937. He was in the Yankee club, playing for Kansas City. He hit only four homers last year but has demonstrated real hitting power this season, having worked 31 round-trippers. Lollar also is a power hitter, having batted out 24 this year. He is hitting .387 for Baltimore and is expected to repeat next season with the Tribe.

Bronko Nagurski, the old football and wrestling hero, has indicated a comeback to the grid after a successful operation to correct a knee. Doesn't the guy know when to call a quit? Football drops 18 beginning to hit the deck, the sports magazine are featuring the athlete, the pro teams have started practice and the All-Star game is on tap. Yet it's about time for the mauler to be dragged out. Plus Jones, the one-armed giant of Tulsa University football team the last two years, has announced he will accept a pro football offer from Boston. Hats off, gentlemen, to a real athletic star.

You may have notice the news of the death of Harry Hillman, track coach at Dartmouth College since 1910. Hillman was one of the great men in American athletics. To the 1904 Olympic games in St. Louis, Hillman won the 400 meters, the 400-meter relay, and the 400-meter run. During his years as track coach at Dartmouth, Hillman developed many stars including Don Burdick, under, and Earl Thompson. He was born in Brooklyn in 1868. Just as Golden Harvest goes out of baseball—he's announced he's quitting as manager of Jersey City and dropping out of the sport—his all-time record of 177 National League games caught is about to be broken by Al Lopez, the veteran catcher of the Pirates. Lopez scored something like 20 games to top Hartnett's mark. Hartnett scored behind the plate for 22 years, but Lopez has been in the major only since 1928.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Writer)
PARIS, Aug. 14.—More than 1,000,000 after-bodied justice. American athletes engaged throughout Europe in the greatest athletic program ever devised, and out of this specially organized competition may come the champions of tomorrow.

But Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, and the best of the championship need not worry for the time being. Strangers, and—much back home, sports would only be howling as a newspaper sport—must be more collected among our boys who only a few weeks ago were slugging it out with the late unemployed.

Golf is something most of the people in this part of the world managed to escape during the last half century while Americans have enjoyed the thing with increasing interest and frequent skill—throwing with the little woman, who has come to be known as a golf widow.

Need More Sports
Nothing has done more to give men, perhaps, than what is the matter with people who pretend to be sportsmen. They are not. They are just men who want to stop their international wanderings and be in the game and give the continental European and Latin American sportsmen a run for their money.

In the connection Mr. Ben Burdick, who is running the sports program in Europe, told the press.

The best possible education program for the Germans would be for us to teach them to play.

An interesting fact in this connection is that not one of the well-known American sports writers on this European tour could name a famous German golf professional.

There isn't so much danger as usual, said Corp. Louis Mangum, who had not won the European theatre professional championship.

Market Traders In Bullish Mood As Jap Surrender Appears Imminent Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Stock market traders were in a bullish frame of mind today awaiting official announcement of the Jap surrender. The list was led by a number of stocks in early trading with a few scattered individual stocks out in front with point gains.

Trading tapered along at slightly more than 200,000 shares in the first hour.

Automobiles were mixed. Copper tapered a bit. Communications were strong and higher. Oils and utilities edged forward.

Bonds continued firm.

Alleged Whiskey Theft Is Probed At Philadelphia

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Auditor General G. Harold Wagner called upon the State Liquor Control Board today to explain circumstances surrounding the alleged theft of 1049 cases of liquors valued at $29,941.20 from a Philadelphia warehouse.

In a letter to board chairman Frederick T. Geider, Wagner said investigators found the loss "resulted from thefts and switches in code numbers." Gov. Edward Martin received a copy of the letter.

"Under the circumstances," Wagner stated in the letter, "I shall appreciate if you will advise me of what steps if any have been taken to protect the interest of the commonwealth; the names of the individuals, if known, who are responsible for the loss, and what has been done or is being done to safeguard against similar losses in the future, bearing in mind that certain liquors are presently available to the general public under a rationing system."

After dispatching the letter, Wagner said similar investigations would be made of stocks in warehouses at Pittsburgh, Erie and Scranton.

Army Is Prepared To Operate Japan

Hundreds Of Army Officers
Trained In Japanese Language And Customs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—The army is amply prepared today for the job of running Japan.

Since last fall, it was disclosed, hundreds of army officers have been undergoing basic training for military government assignments in Japan immediately upon the end of the war.

In classes of 200 each, the officers have been receiving two months of training in military government at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. Afterward they are sent to other universities for six months additional training in the Japanese language and geography and history of Japan.

Some of the officers have long since graduated from the eight-month course of instruction and are waiting only for V-J day to take up their duties of running the Japanese nation.

War department spokesmen said the course of training is along the same pattern as that given military government officers assigned to Germany. Originally, civilians were commissioned for military government posts but this practice was discontinued late in 1943.

Candidates for military government work now are selected from the army by the selection branch of the military government division in Washington.

Will Not Induct Discharged Vets

War Department Says It Will Not Induct Men With Records
And Discharge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Former members of the armed forces who have had long and honorable service were free today from reinduction under selective service and war department policy.

This was announced by the war department in response to inquiries about draft of men previously discharged from the army.

"It is not the desire or intent of selective service or the war department to reinduct former members of the armed forces who have had long and honorable service, unless they volunteer for further service," the army stated.

Details of the announced reinduction policy follow:

An honorably discharged officer normally is placed in an inactive status for the duration of the war plus six months, but he is subject to call.

An officer with an other than honorable discharge is subject to induction only if the war department waives its original action.

An enlisted personnel discharged for any reason are completely separated from the military service.

Those discharged under the readjustment regulations are precluded from reinduction unless they volunteer; those honorably discharged for reasons other than readjustment may be drafted if conditions for which discharged was given change.

Youth Held In Slaying Case

Fifteen-Year-Old Jeddie Howells
Alleged To Have Confessed
Rifle Slaying

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 14.—(INS)—Fifteen-year-old Jeddie L. Howells, of Wilkes-Barre, R. D. 1, was in the custody of state police today charged with suspicion of murder in connection with the slaying of Willard Frey, 44, of Wilkes-Barre.

Bullet wounds from a 22 calibre rifle disfigured the victim's face, head and chest, according to police. The partially clothed body was discovered Saturday near a spring by Pte. Herbert Brown and his wife, of Wilkes-Barre, while seeking water.

The youth confessed the slaying, according to State Police Sgt. Paul Ryan, of the Wyoming barracks. He was taken into custody Sunday.

Frey, whose car was found at Brodheadville in the Pocono mountains about 50 miles from the scene of the crime, had gone to the spring for water, according to his parents. They said the reason their son probably was shirtless was because he was accustomed to taking sun baths for a recent injury. Police said pockets in Frey's pants had been turned inside out.

Police took the youth to a spot in the Poconos in an effort to recover the weapon.

Aged Burglar's Career Is Ended By Police Bullet

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 14.—(INS)—The career of a 73-year-old burglar and holdup man, who had spent most of the last 32 years in jails and prisons of the middle west, was ended today by a police bullet.

He was James Ryan, whose record shows terms served in the Ohio state penitentiary, Detroit, Mich., Ann Arbor, Mich., and other cities. Attorney Glenn R. Beverly, 60, of Elgin was awakened in his bedroom shortly before dawn by Ryan. Ryan snatched the lawyer with a blow in the face and left with Beverly's wallet containing $75.

He stopped on the porch to put on his shoes and lace them. The police appeared and, when Ryan fled, shot him fatally.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today faces the same problem that has always dogged his efforts for China—the problem of forging a united nation.

Victory over Japan after years of bitter, costly warfare is certain for the orphan lad who rose to lead the only Chinese regime recognized by the United States. But victory for his people will prove sweet only if internal difficulties that have caused deep cleavages among them are overcome.

Chiang has always sought peace, harmony and prosperity for his exploited, naturally rich land. From the days he participated in the revolutionary war of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen against the Manchu dynasty he has lived with the dream of a tranquil China.

Today's headlines of Chiang's race against Chinese communist forces to grab what arms are to be reaped from surrendering Japanese troops are reminiscent of news stories of old. They recall the time he was "kidnaped" by red forces, taken to Sian, capital of Shensi, and later released unharmed.

The generalissimo learned something while held in Sian. Several of his captors, were given high office, and communist troops served under him in battling the Japs.

China ever came to unity. Her friends hope that with the close of World War II, Chiang and his beautiful Wellesley-educated wife, who was Miss Mei Ling-Song, approach the problems of peace in a spirit of firmness, cooperation and compromise. On that road lies the greatness of their land.

WAR IN PACIFIC OVER!

Pacific War Victory Rises Out Of Tragedy Of December 7 Attack

Japs Call Plays Till Coral Sea Battle, Solomons Fighting Turns Tide Of Power Against Attackers—Fighting Covered Area From Port Moresby To Attu.

By JOHN B. LEONARD
(International News Service Staff Writer)

It was early Sunday morning. The cool night mists were barely burned away by the bright Hawaiian sun that rose over the Pacific... Sunday, December 7, 1941.

Twelve hours later the most important units of the United States fleet lay bombed and gutted in the mud of Pearl Harbor.

Japan had struck the first blow to open a war unparalleled in horror and ferocity.

Strike Quickly
They struck within a matter of hours and with great initial success not only at Pearl Harbor but at the Philippines, Guam and Wake islands. Then troops aboard fast transports already were on their way to Luzon where they landed three days later on December 10.

That first year of war was a tragic one for the United States. The Japanese, moving rapidly and with well-planned bold strokes, cunningly conceived, had almost everything their own way for the six months following Pearl Harbor.

Two days before the sad Christmas of 1941 the Japs landed on Wake Island, one of the most desperately heroic defenses ever staged by the United States marines.

On the western shores of the Pacific the Japs moved on Hong Kong. The day before Christmas Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared Manila an open city and removed his troops to Marikina and Batangas. The following day Jap planes bombed the helpless city—and bombed it with regularity until they moved in early in January, 1942.

Meanwhile, the Japs advanced in Burma, launched bombing raids on allied possessions, invaded Singapore on Feb. 8, made strong landings in the strategic Celebes islands west of New Guinea, landed paratroopers in Sumatra and invaded Bali off Java.

Batavia Falls
Early in March of 1942 Batavia fell to the Japanese invaders. On March 8 the Japs claimed Rangoon and the northern and eastern shores of New Guinea were overrun by Jap troops.

MacArthur, after dreadful weeks on the rock known as Corregidor to which he and his men withdrew from Bataan, arrived in Australia. "I shall return," he told the world. Only a short while later Gen. Jonathan "Skinny" Wainwright and the remaining garrison on Corregidor surrendered to the Japs.

Then the enemy moved rapidly down the Philippine archipelago, and Manila surrendered.

It was May, 1942 now. Then came the battle of the Coral sea—the first allied victory. It opened with a roar on the morning of May 6 as American and Japanese planes struck and tore at one another.

The battle was joined only briefly. The Jap fleet had secured south from its bases in the New Guinea and New Britain area toward the newest objective—Port Moresby on the southeast coast of New Guinea, directly across the Coral sea from Australia.

Australia The Goal
Australia was the ultimate goal. An American fleet, waiting in the Coral sea, caught the Japs and carrier-planes from that fleet drove them back.

A month later June 4 the Japs struck again—this time eastward at Midway—and once again the Americans were waiting for them. Those two battles turned the flood of defeat into a growing spreading tide of American victory in the Pacific.

But other of the enemy's troops moved into the desolate Aleutians under cover of the perpetual fog that mask Attu and Kiska. Within two months they hit again—this time thousands of miles to the south. They landed at Buna in New Guinea and seized the Solomons Islands east of New Guinea.

On August 8 the United States marines landed on Guadalcanal and undertook the grueling kind of fighting which was to mark the Solomons Islands in history forever. The weeks dragged wearily on and suddenly it was known the Japs had quit two of the Aleutian Islands they had occupied.

On New Guinea the Japs were pushed slowly back into the dense jungles after forcing their way to a point less than 50 miles from Port Moresby.

More gains were made in New Guinea under the most miserable fighting conditions the world has ever seen, and the British held fast in Burma, then launched a counter-offensive.

New Year's day American planes bombed Wake Island in the mid-Pacific. Australian and American troops launched a smashing offensive at Buna in New Guinea that in three days' time wiped out every last enemy soldier.

February 9 Tokyo announced—at least six months to the day after the marines landed—that all Jap troops had been withdrawn from Guadalcanal and the Buna area of New Guinea.

Now a mighty United States strength gained slowly and painfully at a toll of blood and lives, was flexing its new muscles; U. S. navy warships bombarded Attu late in February; new gains were made in New Guinea; American airpower poured into great new bases in northern Australia and in lower New Guinea.

Then—Tokyo was bombed. It was April 18, 1945. A month later, in May, American troops landed on Attu and the island was secured on the last day of that month.

August 21 Tank soldiers seized Kiska without opposition. Ten thousand Japs had fled under cover of the same heavy fog that shrouded their covetous moves in landing. On August 28 the 64-day hell of fighting on New Georgia Island ended.

Now the landings came thick and fast. The Treasury Islands, Bougainville, the Gilberts, New Britain and between mid-October and the last day of 1945.

The new year of 1944 started off with very little hull. Americans landed in the Marshall the U. S. navy attacked the Marianas with bombardment and bombs. Lord Louis Mountbatten announced a victory in Burma—and everywhere American airpower grew.

In late February 1944, MacArthur's troops landed on the Admiralty Islands and in late April the Americans jumped a thousand miles westward along the coast of New Guinea and seized Hollandia. Hollandia was to become a tremendous army base for the Admiralty Islands.

And like a stone that is flung along the water's surface, the American landings jumped westward. Wake and Black Islands in May. Nauru in July. Saipan in July, and Morotai in September.

Bern Morotai
In the Pacific army command, Guam had been taken. Tinian was ours, and work was under way on what one day was to become the chief base for the most gigantic bomber in the world, the Superfortress.

While MacArthur's men invaded Morotai off the northern tip of the Philippines, the central Pacific command thrust an exploring invasion force to the Palau group and seized Peleliu and Anguar, two tiny islands, in two bloody fights.

Then, October 20, came the day MacArthur had waited long painful months to see. American troops landed on Leyte in the Philippines, and the battle for the islands was on.

Five days after D-day at Leyte, the Jap fleet struck with great cunning from the north and south ends of Leyte.

Admiral Thomas Kinkaid's heavy old battleships—the very same vessels which not quite three years before were useless hulks in Pearl Harbor—met the enemy force. Without suffering a single hit, they sank nearly all Jap cruisers and destroyers, damaged two Jap battleships and dispersed the remainder of the enemy fleet.

From then on the war moved swiftly. Two Jims, in the Bonin Islands, and Okinawa in the Ryukyus were the next stepping stones from the Philippines.

And as the war moved to its ultimate climax, the death-bearing first atomic bomb in history was dropped on Japan, bringing death to an estimated 150,000.

The Japanese at last seemed convinced that the allied forces meant it when they ordered "unconditional surrender."

The victim was Allan A. Allison, 25, of Youngstown, O. He was stationed at Lowry Field, Colo.

Police said Allison either fell or was thrown from the third floor of the old Windsor Hotel and died 30 minutes later. Death was due to a skull fracture.

DENVER, Aug. 14.—(INS)—One soldier was killed early today during Denver's wild celebration of the Tokyo report that the Japanese had agreed to accept the Allied surrender terms.

Hirohito's Boss?

Gen. Douglas M. MacArthur will probably be named supreme commander of occupation forces in Japan and under terms of surrender will become Emperor Hirohito's boss. The emperor will probably remain as the nominal head of his people but "Dogg" will be giving the orders, it is expected.

BERN RECEIVES JAPANESE REPLY

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 14.—(INS)—The Japanese reply to the allied surrender terms was received in Bern this morning. Because of the extreme length of the message it was expected that it might take about five hours to decipher it.

It was understood, however, that the message would be decoded and handed over to Swiss authorities for relay to the United States this afternoon.

Japan Surrenders Unconditionally—Agrees To Potsdam Proclamation—Allies Issue "Cease Firing" Order

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14, 1945.—Japan has surrendered.

This afternoon President Harry S. Truman announced the receipt of the surrender of the Japanese government to the Allied Powers and said:

"I deem this reply a full acceptance of the Potsdam declaration which specifies the unconditional surrender of Japan."

"In reply there is no qualification."

"Arrangements are now being made for the formal signing of surrender terms at the earliest possible moment."

"Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been appointed the Supreme Allied commander to receive the Japanese surrender."

"Meantime, the Allied armed forces have been ordered to suspend offensive action."

"The proclamation of V-J Day must wait upon the formal signing of the surrender terms by Japan."

Following is the text of Japan's message accepting unconditional surrender as released by the White House:

"Communication of the Japanese government of Aug. 14, 1945, addressed to the governments of the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and China:

"With the reference to the Japanese government's note of August 10, regarding their acceptance of the provisions of the Potsdam declaration and the reply of the governments of the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, and China sent by American Secretary of State Byrnes under the date of August 11, the Japanese government have the honor to communicate to the governments of the four powers as follows:

"1. His majesty the emperor has issued an imperial rescript regarding Japan's acceptance of the provisions of the Potsdam declaration.

"2. His majesty the emperor is prepared to authorize and insure the signature by his government and the imperial general headquarters of the necessary terms for carrying out the provisions of the Potsdam declaration.

His majesty is also prepared to give his command to all the military, naval and air authorities of Japan and all the forces under their control wherever located to cease active operations, to surrender arms and to issue such other orders as may be required by the supreme commander of the Allied forces for the execution of the above mentioned terms.

"It's A Great Day", Said Pres. Truman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A jubilant crowd pushed military police up against the White House fence tonight when President and Mrs. Truman appeared on the White House lawn and waved to cheering thousands.

The Trumans appeared in response to shouts of "We want Truman!" "We want Truman!"

Mr. Truman spoke to the grateful crowd through a public address system set up in front of the White House.

"This is a great day," the president told the celebrants. "This is the day we have been waiting for."

"This day means the end of Fascism and Nazism."

BRITISH PEOPLE HEAR WAR ENDED

(REUTERS)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee tonight told the British people that the war against Japan had ended.

He made his historic pronouncement at midnight (7 p.m. EDT) from No. 10 Downing street in a broadcast to the nation.

The note was signed by Togo.

Manpower Controls "HOLD BONDS" OFF IN TRI-STATE ADVISE GIVEN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Regional War Manpower Commission Paul C. Lewis tonight urged all manpower controls in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware as the bitter war with Japan came to an end.

"This represents the turning point of a phase freely given by the War Manpower Commission that when controls were no longer necessary for the good of the war, those controls would no longer remain," Lewis said.

He issued a plea to industry to maintain employment levels during brief reconversion periods, even at some temporary sacrifice.

"Continuation of employment instead of laying off workers who will be needed 30 or 40 days from now will guarantee permanent retention of the most productive workers," Lewis continued.

Truman Announces Two Day Vacation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—President Truman announced tonight that in view of the end of the War, Secretary of War Stimson will be out from 10:00 to 10:00 a.m. on Thursday.

He also received a two-day holiday for government workers tomorrow and Thursday.

Mr. Truman also announced that he expects between five million and five and a half million men will be released from the armed forces during the next 12 to 18 months and that future enlistments will be limited to the lowest age groups.

New Castle's urged the downtown section tonight to celebrate the official proclamation of the end of the war with Japan.

Horns tooted, bells rang and flags waved as cars shaded with people crept through crowded streets within minutes of the time that the word of the cessation of hostilities was received.

Cars draped with paper streamers, bunting, banners and flags carried full loads of rejoicing men, women and youngsters.

New Yorkers Blow Long And Loud On Horns When False Surrender Report Strikes

By WILLIAM STEELE

(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—New York City did a classic double-take today when word of the Jap-announced peace acceptance hit the darkened metropolis.

Millions of potential celebrants disbelieved the news at first—perhaps reading old and recent false announcements—but once the message struck home they lost no time in working up to a frenzy of joyous thanksgiving.

As in other celebrations, sirens, fog horns and the tolling of ship bells from the waterfront encompassed the city in a heavy blanket of sound. Under that as soon as landlubbers believed the tidings arose a second wave of noise.

Everybody Happy

Taxi and automobile horns, noisemakers and tin horns blown by exultant youths; church bells and the hoarse shouts of deliciously happy servicemen greeted what all hope was the final, certain end of armed conflict.

Chinatown had been waiting for today for years and made the most of its advent. Fireworks were set off by the gross, air flags flung over drab fire escapes.

Little Italy also went wild. And in Harlem musical instruments were brought out for blaring jam sessions, with negro servicemen were applauded for their part in bringing the war to a successful end.

facilitate the rapid demobilization of military personnel and to insure that those remaining in the Army will be used exclusively for military duties, such as occupation of enemy territory and other tasks essential to effective national defense," the statement said.

Under the policy it was pointed out that the assignment of military personnel will be restricted to functions which require military skills or which for training, security, or disciplinary reasons must be performed by officers or soldiers. The statement added:

"This means that thousands of jobs that might be filled by officers and enlisted men, including many administrative and executive positions, will be performed by civilians in the War department, the various command and service, arsenal and kindred installations, and at posts, camps and stations."

NAVY AIRMEN REJOICE OVER JAPS' SURRENDER

hours before Tokyo's announcement came, the fight went on without abatement.

A force of 430 Superfortresses—queens of the air that had Japan virtually whipped even before the two atom bombs were dropped—blasted the heart of the former mighty city of Osaka.

The B-29s thus may be credited with the last smashing blow of the war against Japan.

Late today, even though the Japanese radio announcement was taken at its face value, tight-lipped Admiral Nimitz and square-jawed General Spaatz remained ready to pick up the battle at any moment if the Japs break faith again.

The final fight of the war, save for mopping up operations against the probably pockets of Japanese die-hards, were fought in the air over an arena stretching for hundreds of miles, on the sea where light American naval craft picked the bones of the last of the Jap navy, and in the jungles where the unsung foot-sloggers cleaned out isolated and by-passed areas.

Japan's last bitter tastes of Allied wrath were administered by at least two thousand planes under top command of Generals MacArthur and Spaatz and Admirals Nimitz and Halsey.

Speculation arose at once as to whether plans for signing of an armistice would bring the last-moment Third Fleet into action to execute its "V-J" orders.

With "Bull" Halsey's Third Fleet now so close to Japan, it was expected that the admiral would move his ships rapidly into key Japanese ports as a show of Allied strength, and to avert possible disorder.

It was believed that the fleet would be followed up within a matter of days by forces of the army of occupation.

This afternoon there still was no word regarding the location of the meeting with Japanese representatives to draw up definite arrangements for the armistice.

In the absence of any official announcement in this regard, observers speculated that the meeting spot might be one of these three: (1) Okinawa, considered most likely because it is most readily accessible for MacArthur, due to become commander of the occupation army; (2) Aboard a battleship or (3) in Tokyo.

shots or at Manila which has only 25 miles southwest of Hiroshima where the first atom-bombing weapon fell on Japan a week ago Monday.

It was understood that this afternoon's strikes were the beginning of the series which would end any stalling over surrender conditions.

The Superfort aircrews and ground maintenance forces had special reason to celebrate a prospective final victory over Japan because they believed that the Japs had been beaten down principally by air power while the nearest American foot-soldiers were miles away from Tokyo or Okinawa.

Deaths of the Day

Hugh Marquis

Hugh Marquis, aged 80 years, of the Greer block, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning at 6 o'clock. Mr. Marquis was a former secretary of the New Castle school board.

The body is at the Offutt funeral home, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. McCombs Funeral

High mass of requiem for Mrs. Eleanor T. McCombs, Euclid avenue, was offered this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. Francis King officiating.

Pallbearers were: Richard Davis, Felix Delme, James Denny, Michael Pandice, Charles Travers and Theodore Young.

Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. Father King conducting the committal service.

pets and tinbones, ringing cowbells and trailing tunked cats, gas-bag cans and wash tubs.

One car bore five huge American flags, while other flags blossomed forth from the windows and on the porches of thankful homes throughout the city. Another car had an ugly, dwarfed dummy spread over the grill, and just so there would be no mistake as to the identity of the creature, a large sign read "Hirohito, the Son of Hell!"

Impromptu Parade

The delight of hundreds of small children was the impromptu parade which marched to the music of sang men from the Johnson-Bronte orchestra and was led by Mayor John F. Haven, Postmaster William Hanna and George Thompson. Between the two officials was a man in pink underwear, while another man in a white shirt bore the mark of two red lips on his cheek.

Soldiers and sailors watched the celebration which meant the end of their fighting, and in residential sections guns were shot off in token of peace, not of war. But the shopping was halted here. Did the shopkeepers have time to speak and many churches opened their doors to let people who moved quietly in and out.

"I've seen the end of three wars," commented one elderly spectator. "I hope I've seen the last one." An aged, white-haired woman just cried softly as she watched the crowds stream past. "Our grandsons a prisoner and he'll be coming home, her husband explained.

Keep Going

But even with the deep and solemn sorrow, the celebration rolled on, one group replacing another. Flares and daylight bombs added to the noise of the guns, and when people tired of dragging cans after their cars, they took them off and tossed them. Premature "V-J-Close" signs decorated store fronts all along the main stem, and as people celebrated they were alert for the sound of "it's official."

And while they waited in spite of uncertainty and confusion, the town was joyous today.

It's close enough for us to "laugh" one woman shouted. "And think of all the hellos we'll be saying soon."

Then there are the Japanese armies in China, French Indo-China, Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. It will take some time and it may require considerable persuasion to get all these groups to surrender.

Last of all there are the remnants of the Japanese garrisons in New Guinea, New Britain, New Ireland, the Truk group and the many isolated islands of the Pacific which have been bypassed by the allies. Some of these units have not been in touch with their home government for more than two years.

END OF WORLD WAR TWO SEEMS BUT HOURS AWAY

The Swiss legation in Washington had been informed by Bern that the Japanese surrender note had reached the Swiss capital.

This note is now being decoded for transmission to Washington.

"Thus, it appears that the curtain soon will be hung down on the bloodiest and cruellest war in history."

Secretary of State Byrnes, after an early morning conference with President Truman, also added his belief in speedy developments.

On leaving the White House Byrnes was asked if he expected any news today.

"Yes," was his reply. Although the official Japanese text had not arrived in Washington this morning, Ross told reporters that the "Big Four" Allied powers are now arranging a simultaneous release on the Japanese reply.

No Re-Dispatch

Because of this arrangement it will not be necessary to re-dispatch the Japanese document from Washington to the capitals of Great Britain, Russia and China, Ross said. This will speed the long awaited announcement.

Ross was asked directly whether he was assuming that the Japanese reply was favorable.

"I am assuming nothing," he replied. The presidential secretary emphasized that it would take some time to decode and transmit the official Japanese reply from Bern to the Swiss legation in Washington.

As a consequence of the morning conference between Byrnes and the president, Ross was asked if Mr. Truman now had a digest of the Japanese reply before him.

The secretary said he did not know. When will the cease fire order be given? Ross was asked.

He replied that this would be given out along with other details when President Truman makes the official announcement.

Name MacArthur

Mr. Truman's history-making announcement also will officially name Gen. Douglas MacArthur as the Allied commander in chief of occupation forces.

The Japanese decision makes their god-emperor, Hirohito, a puppet of the Allied supreme commander.

262 billion dollars, an increase of more than 217 billion dollars over the pre-war figure.

In addition, the war years brought a vast increase in tax rates and the number of taxpayers to enable the administration to collect and spend 138 billion dollars.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30, tax collections were more than eight times as great as in the last year of peace, and the number of returns filed rose from 20 to 80 million.

And over and above this burden the public dug down to purchase more than forty billion dollars in war bonds.

With this record of astronomical government spending behind it, however, the American public cannot hope for an immediate return to pre-war levels of government tax collections or expenditures.

Promise Reduction
Administration officials have promised tax reductions after the end of the war, but the aftermath of the struggle will demand for many years a federal budget of more than 25 billion dollars annually—more than twice the cost of government during the years preceding the war.

Congressional leaders see no immediate removal of war taxes from the federal statute books. But despite the abnormal size of the expected post-war cost of government, economists see a bright side to the picture.

If the national income of the war years can be maintained in the post-war era, they contend the public will be much more able to support the government at 25 billion dollars annually than they were at less than half that figure with the lower pre-war rate of national income.

Peace To Bring Many Problems

Japs On Islands May Decide Not To Surrender—Would Mean Dirty Fighting

By JOHN B. LEONARD

(U. S. Foreign Writer)

For six years, less 20 days, the world has been at war—a war from which the Allies have emerged as victors.

A peace is in the process of being achieved—there would seem to be no other way to express it—and nations the world around must begin to set to rights their staggering economies, their shattered cities, and their governmental houses.

Not Minor

Such problems are not minor, in any sense of the word, but they do not seem important at this moment immediately before the guns actually cease to fire.

One cold hard fact remains, no matter what notes in fine diplomatic language are exchanged. Implementing the peace on a score of Pacific islands, in the jungles of New Guinea, Borneo, Malaya, the Celebes, Ceylon and Hainanah will be a foul and dirty job.

It cannot be assumed, for instance, that most of the Japs on Bougainville will surrender merely because Allied planes drop infernal leaflets telling them the war is over. The 18,000 Japs on that island have been speaking through the words since the middle of 1942 engaged in the bitterest kind of jungle fighting.

Furthermore, the Japs on Bougainville have been showered from time to time with much Allied propaganda. There is no way of telling how they will react to news of Hirohito's capitulation.

Still Hold Rabaul

The estimated 30,000 Japs still holding Rabaul on New Britain also may have plans which do not involve surrender.

On those islands where the American navy's blockade has been one hundred per cent effective it can be assumed the Japs will surrender. They will be ill and starving.

But New Guinea will present an entirely different circumstance. The western reaches of that vast island provide shelter, food and water for approximately 100,000 Japanese soldiers. Their stores are incalculable, according to the most recent intelligence reports.

In Good Health

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander-in-chief of the Australian forces, knows for a fact that the majority of the Japs remaining in New Guinea are in better health than the day they arrived on the island. He knows, also, that they have occupied themselves with the construction of extensive fortifications.

Laves will be lost when the time comes to approach the Japanese troops still holding isolated outposts of the stolen enemy empire.

The real test of the Jap mentality, tactics, and the testing will be a task for brave men.

But it is painful and terrible to think that long after the war is done, Allied soldiers must make their way up some by-passed beachhead, slugging in the backwash of a conflict ill-conceived and ill-starred.

New Gains

The official Moscow communiqué, which made no mention of a Jap reported Red amphibious invasion along a 60-mile front of the Japanese portion of Sakhalin island just north of Japan, announced new gains in eastern and western Manchuria.

The Soviet communiqué, dealing with operations on the fifth day of the new Russo-Japanese war, announced the capture of at least 22 important communities in Manchuria.

"Our airforce continued its attacks against Manchurian railway junctions," the communiqué stated, "noting that the red army troops were enjoying the continuing support of powerful Russian bomber and fighter formations."

The communiqué did not mention the Korean sector where Soviet amphibious forces already had landed and seized the important ports of Rashin and Yuki.

Fashion experts would probably shudder if they could have seen New Castle women early this morning.

The early announcement of surrender caught local women a trifle off-guard—and so all types of morning attire were in vogue.

Local women played a big part in the joyful celebration, and whether they were in pajamas, housecoats or nurse dresses, it made little difference. In a few instances curtains were in evidence, and women were literally caught with their hair still "up."

Anything was in style and women from 17 to 50 were seen in what they probably would let outsiders see them in again. Pent up emotion of the past four years let loose this morning in such a flow of tide that couldn't be matched before. It was almost noon before many women doffed their morning attire.

Anything went—and so far, anything still goes.

FAITH ARE WE RIGHT?

There has been a great many changes in the way things are being done in the last few years and these changes, in most cases, make it much easier to do the same thing.

There is one custom that should be changed, and that is, where farmers get together to thresh grain. The old way is for the ladies of the house to work two or three days, get up a great feed and be worn out after the threshing is done. Then, if it rains, a lot of times, this has to be done two or three times, before the job is finished.

These same people that get together to do this threshing, will go to a public or ball game, and eat a sandwich, or do without any. Why not have them take their lunches or dinners with them, like the man that works in the mill, and save the farmer's wife, with all her many duties, this worry and work three or four times in a season.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

President Recalls Another Armistice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Once before, 27 years ago, President Truman sweat out another armistice. That experience was seared deeply into his memory. As with most men who go through the hell of modern war, Truman had developed a hatred of the whole business.

In France in 1918 he was commander of Battery D of the 129th field artillery. He served at the front all through the last four months of World War I.

"I can remember," he told me in an interview in 1942, "that on November 10, 1918, we got our orders to move down the following afternoon into the valley of Verdun. That next morning some units did move down. Some men I knew and thought a lot of got killed that morning.

"If we had moved down that afternoon, some of us would have got it. There are just the chances of war. That is why every hour that we can save means that many lives saved. That is why I'm giving everything we have now—hitting just as hard as we can."

The young artillery captain was chairman of the senate war investigating committee when he spoke those words. He was blasting away at complacency and stupidity in the war effort, always toward the goal of bringing the war to an end as quickly as possible, remembering that each hour, each minute, taken at its toll of life, President Truman has from the first moment of the Japanese surrender offer worked on our allies to bring about a settlement that would merge all differences.

He has personally withered the peace mover in reconciling the points of disagreement that persisted in the face of the condition laid down at Tokyo.

But President Truman knows, too, out of his own experience that a hasty truce can mean a lost peace. We were in such a hurry to "bring back the boys" the last time and get it all over with over there, that we allowed the Germans to rearm for another and more terrible war.

That is why the sons of many of the men who fought the last war have been killed in this one. President Truman knows that, too.

On one phase of the allied reply to the Japanese surrender offer we should have no illusions. We say that the emperor must take orders from the American occupation commander, who will presumably be General Douglas MacArthur. Then we say that later the Japanese people will have the opportunity to choose their own form of government.

This choice will be made during American occupation of the islands. That is the real question.

Will our occupying forces allow a Democratic revolution to take place if the Japanese themselves desire to sweep away the institution of the emperor?

Such an impulse must come from the Japanese people. Certainly we know far too little to superimpose our notion of the past or a new democratic pattern, tailored to American military government officers.

It would be a tragedy for the future if, in the interests of law and order, we should stand in the way of the will of the Japanese. For there are influential Americans who might find it easier to reply on the old order and who might therefore prefer to preserve the old form. The experts seem to believe that the Japanese will continue to be a people of the future, and that they could be wrong again.

Our difficulties in approaching occupied Germany have been very real. The problem of Japan is far more complicated, at any rate, because of her long history and her real understanding of Japanese institutions and Japanese psychology.

The language barrier itself is almost insurmountable. Only a handful of Americans really know and understand idiomatic Japanese.

In retrospect it may seem that we have taken only the first and by far the easiest step. It may even seem that we took that step too hastily.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:47. Sun rises tomorrow 6:23.

A candle lights others and consumes itself.

Nothing kills love like an overdose of it.

ONE ON OLD GAL The young woman and the elderly spinster were waiting for a No. 2 car. The girl hailed out a pack of cigarettes and offered one to the spinster.

"Young lady," was the stern answer she got, "I'd rather kiss the first man that came along than smoke a cigarette."

"So would I," remarked the young woman. "But let's have a smoke while we're waiting."

The fear of death is the greatest compliment we pay to life.

Maiden waiting nothing but husbands and when they have them they want everything.

People who look for the good old days are chasing a will-o-the-wisp. We think it reminds us of the time the ancient emperor called on his wise men and told them that within a week they must hit upon some one statement that would be true then and forevermore.

After days of thinking they hit on this one.

All other truths may pass, but this one that there is nothing certain but that things will change.

The two chief problems are the high cost of living and the cheapness of human life.

JUMPS CALENDAR Strange things happen here. We had a friend who said he always hated to make a trip because he was always ill the night before the journey.

We told him how to get rid of the difficulty. Now he always goes a day earlier and swears he has no more trouble.

When the heart is airtight some sparks will fly out of the mouth.

The brain thinks more things than the tongue can utter.

Prudes think the thing that the rest of us talk about.

Times certainly have changed. A few years ago a man went to an auto dealer and selected a car. The dealer started to explain the terms, but the purchaser stopped him.

"I want to pay all cash for the car," he said.

The dealer was stunned, and thought it over a minute.

"You may pay all cash," he announced. "But the request is so unusual, I am afraid we will have to ask you for references."

Law now controls the air, and the next in line is sunshine.

Many of us do not know we have a conscience until after the thing is over.

When you are shocked at everything that goes on, then indeed has old age got you.

When women have more self-discipline than men, note how many more preserve their trim figures after forty.

Politicians care for only one thing and that is to squelch any movement that threatens their power.

Supreme Court Vacancy To Be Filled By Truman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Almost any day now Mr. Truman is expected to fill the existing vacancy on the Supreme Court.

This appointment is awaited with unusual interest. It easily may be more revealing of the man than anything he has done since he became President. It may provide the answer to the great question of whether he is really sympathetic with the "crusading liberals" of the Henry Wallace type or whether his liberalism is motivated by belief in the multiplication table and a feeling that all new proposals are not necessarily sound.

IN NAMING Justice Roberts' successor there seem three courses open to the President. He can select a man of recognized leadership and reputation, such as, for example, as Judge Parker—who is sure to affiliate with the restrained liberals, headed by the Chief Justice and reinforced by the support of Justice Frankfurter and Justice Jackson. As a third alternative he can continue his habit of making appointments from his former allies in the Senate. In that event, the most likely choice is Senator Warren Austin, of Vermont, a Republican with a fine record and the respect of both sides.

IF Mr. Truman names as Justice someone who will follow the leadership of Justice Black, it not only will mean undisputed control of the court by the crusading element for some years to come but it will greatly stimulate and encourage the radical groups and the professional labor leaders all over the country. These have been somewhat discouraged and perturbed by the few months over what they regard as the conservative tendencies of Mr. Truman. They know that as a senator he supported Mr. Roosevelt's policies and had a practically perfect New Deal record. But this they, as do others, attribute not to any personal enthusiasm over the New Deal program but to the fact that it was a regular, Missouri machine Democratic man, known to be supporting the organization and following the party leader. Now fate has made him the party leader and he is under no obligation to follow anyone. If therefore in his first Supreme Court appointment he names an extreme liberal it would be a revelation of his own feeling and would justify regarding among the "crusading liberals."

THOSE closest to Mr. Truman, however, are convinced that he will not go in that direction and that the Black-Douglas-Murphy philosophy is not his philosophy. At any rate, the journalistic organs of the crusaders are pessimistic about this. The most that can be hoped for is an impartial justice of recognized attainment. This makes no secret of their belief that this sort of man cannot be obtained through the Truman custom of going to the Senate. Concerning, therefore, the presidential choice will not fall upon an out-and-out crusader, it seems fairly certain that his appointment will not strengthen the Black-Douglas-Murphy group. For if he selects either a crusading, well-equipped lawyer or a moderate, well-known figure, he will be sure to settle down into agreement with the general constitutional views of the Chief Justice, Justice Frankfurter and Justice Jackson.

STILL, this while it will not cement radical control of the court, will have it in the unfortunate condition in which it was before Justice Roberts resigned. With Justice Black have usually gone Justices Douglas, Murphy, Rutledge and Reed. Sometimes Justice Reed has refused to go along, but in the main the Black-Douglas-Murphy group has dominated the other four have dissented. With the court reduced by absence of a member detached by the President in several cases a minority of four has rendered its decision. Thus, the Black-Douglas-Murphy combination in a number of instances has been able to reverse Supreme Court decisions that have stood for generations and in at least one industry insurance—something like check has resulted.

THE reasons the Truman appointment of a man who will take Justice Roberts' place in adhering to the four dissenters even though it does not change the relative strength of the two sides is more important than it seems at first, because it will be continuing testimony that the President is not in sympathy with the radical majority. Second that if and when the Chief Justice retires, Justice Jackson probably will succeed him. Third the mere knowledge that the President's heart is not with the crusaders will tend to diminish their power. With the appointment of a moderate instead of a radical to the vacancy the division within the court by which the Black-Douglas-Murphy bloc has so often had a majority and because of which the four-justice decisions have upset so many precedents will still prevail for a time at least. But future prospects will be better for a more stable and balanced court.

Mme. Chiang Ang Mme. Luce To Leave For China
Blanes Dullness Of Peace As Cause For Wars
Wounded GI Criticizes War Peace Definitions

By HILLEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Two extremely interesting items will set forth for China, come the first part of September, Madame Chiang Kai-shek and Madame Clare Boothe Luce.

Prime donnas (or is it primadonnas? both) You'll seldom find a more fascinating pair of traveling companions. Representative Luce on her first trip to China, it is said, inspired the wife of the Chinese Generalissimo to come to the United States. Now to finish the bargain, the lady from Connecticut is escorting the lady from Chungking back home.

I could love to see the two ladies together. In one the guile and wit of the Occident. In the other the pure and wisdom of the Orient. What a fascinating study for the student of people. And for the camera!

Can't Drink Own Milk Other news from Connecticut is that Senator Thomas Hart, who lately laid aside his Navy blue and navy uniform stars for a senatorial toga, lives in peace there on a dairy farm stocked with about a hundred fine milk cows.

But nary a drop of milk or cream does the senator have for lunch, dinner, breakfast or nighttime. Why? Mrs. Hart, who runs the farm, ships most of the product to market. And the rest she donates to several children's institutions.

Often have I said that the only cases of war is the justice of the cause. Yesterday I received a reminder for these statements in a letter from Richard S. Rice, a patient in Walter Reed hospital since December when he was wounded in Germany.

I almost fell out of my chair when I read your opinion that war is exciting and peace dull. I was a bit taken aback. And then to top the wild remark you added "War is the only competition that the old home place has in its safety and even the home folks."

War Not Exciting "How in the world could you ever think, much less print a thing like that? I know a hell of a lot of young American boys who love adventure, sports and everything a man loves, but I've never found one who had the slightest idea that war is exciting and peace dull."

I lost my right leg above the knee. I saw some of my close friends killed in pieces. They died in my arms. I saw them die. Many of them have lost their lives overseas. Here I am having to start living all over again in a new world. A world in which I have only one leg of my own. I am learning to drive a car, play golf, swim and do a thousand things that you do automatically every day and never give a second thought to. Each one of us walking up stairs, standing up and sitting down is something very special to me.

I married before I went overseas, and we recently rented an apartment. We've got to get a home started. Pick up where we left off two years ago. Start on our real married life. If you think that is DULL, then you have another guess coming.

The old home town isn't shattered by bombs and artillery, but that doesn't make it look dead to me. By comparison with bombed cities abroad.

The home town you mention, the things I brought back to you, I gave my leg for and would have given my life for if my name had been called.

The person who said war was exciting must have been some fellow sitting in Washington or anywhere where he was safe of a desk and a pen.

That fellow never was at the front line! There is still no better description of war than the one General Sherman gave.

A strong, thoughtful letter this one. But I think to my original statement which was that peace can be made exciting all the characters written by momentarily, recent statements will not prevent wars.

For the past four months I have had the privilege of serving in the capacity of judge of the Occident Township Judicial District, and while this experience has been interesting, it is far from frivolous or being just a joke, as many may consider it. For it strikes straight at the heart of the everyday incidents of life when people become disturbed or upset about conditions and things which are not in the line of the law.

Perhaps one of the commonest criticisms of the country judges is that he is suddenly becomes impressed with his own importance or is affected by delusions of grandeur and is not so much of the same thing. I would like to come to my own decision by saying that I believe this job is going to make a Christian out of me.

When I moved in and took over a few months ago, no one knew better than myself that what I knew about the letter of the law would not burden anyone to carry around. As a newspaper reporter I have covered court proceedings for half a century or a little less, and of course knew all about them. I was proud of myself on my super-abundance of what I was pleased to call common sense—whether anyone agreed or not. And I was going to consult my court on a common-sense basis and let the law go hang.

Do Congressmen Drink? Psychiatrist Thinks So

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A controversy developed in Washington today between the United Press and Dr. Michael M. Miller, St. Elizabeths Hospital psychiatrist, over the amount of drinking among members of congress, the state department and the diplomatic corps.

The UP circulated a story under the byline of Helen A. Luby, saying that Dr. Miller contended "alcohol is a dominating factor in American legislation and diplomacy."

Dr. Miller later issued the following statement:

"I was interviewed by Miss Ashby of United Press, and asked about the drinking situation in congress. I told her that of course there was some drinking going on there and that frequently it was the technique of certain lobbyists to encourage this practice."

"I advised her to interview certain congressmen and obtain their views as to the actual drinking going on there. However, I requested her not to quote me since what I was giving her was informal and off the record."

Department Buys It

Additional reference was made to the fact that the foreign service branch of the state department had recently requested a fairly considerable amount of money to purchase liquor in the nature of an added appropriation for ostensible diplomatic purposes and that further certain other governments seem to keep their legations fairly well stocked with intoxicating liquor.

"No reference was made as to the number of alcoholics in congress or the state department and any such assertions are positive misquotations."

It was emphasized that a great many congressmen and senators strongly oppose excessive drinking and were only too willing to lend their support to the establishment of nationwide clinics for treating the unfortunate victims of this widespread social disease and especially to assure such treatment for returning veterans suffering from alcoholism.

The UP representative was asked to obtain facts first hand on the actual situation with reference to drinking in congress and the state department, and not to quote Dr. Miller since he had no such figures.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Marie Thomas, North Mercer street, has returned from a week's vacation spent at Conneaut Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Mortimer of Butler visited with the former's mother, Mrs. Carrie Mortimer, of East Washington street, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex G. Anderson and daughter Dorothy Lee Anderson, of Baltimore, Md., have returned home after a week's stay with his parents on the Graceland road.

Peggy Lee Matthews, of 207 1/2 Park avenue, is visiting in Youngstown, with her aunt, Mrs. Ross Taylor, the latter arriving in this vicinity for a few months from Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. David F. Rowe of 624 East Washington street, have returned from their vacation, having visited with relatives in Greenville and McKeesport, also on a trip into Canada.

Ben Steinbrink of 1119 Cunningham avenue, and grandson, Ronald Klingensmith, of 1209 Cunningham avenue have left for Gates Mills, O., where they will visit with the former's son, Herman Steinbrink, and family.

Mrs. Benjamin Agnew of Wallace avenue, her houseguest, Ella Rickert of Rochester, Pa., and Lena Richards of Winter avenue, have departed for Chautauque, where they will remain until the close of the music season.

Mrs. John Gethin Thomas of Pittsburgh was a guest over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith Thomas of Park avenue. The former's husband, Lt. Gethin Thomas, is attached to the U. S. Navy in the Pacific.

Miss Ann Zubkowsky and Miss Anna Alduk have returned from a visit to the former's sister and brother-in-law, E. M. 2-c and Mrs. Frank W. Pilch of Little Creek, Va., and have also visited at Virginia Beach and in Philadelphia.

Misses Martha and Elynor Allen and Beatrice Rist, now of Poland, O., and formerly of West Washington street, extension, and Dorothy Schuler, now of Booneman, O., and formerly of New Bedford, have joined the Waves. They were sworn in on August 6 and will begin boot training on August 22 at Hunter college, New York.

James P. Lutton A. M. M. 1-c has returned after visiting with his wife, Mrs. Mary Lutton of Warren avenue, over the week-end. On Saturday, a son was born to Seaman and Mrs. Lutton at the Jameson Memorial hospital, who has been named James P. Lutton Jr. Mrs. Lutton is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Ringer and the late P. J. Ringer of 919 Warren avenue. Seaman Lutton is taking advanced training at the Naval Center, 87th and Anthony avenue, Chicago.

In the Middle Ages it was the custom of ladies to give a sprig of thyme to their knights to keep up their courage. Thyme is much used in herbal medicine and makes a refreshing bath.

Hats To Be Higher, Probably Funnier

Upcurves, Stove Pipe Crowns, Brimless Berets, Go Ahead, Read It For Yourself

By JEANETTE SMITH
U. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—What does a woman look for in a hat?

Generally speaking, two things. The hat must be smart and it must be becoming to her features and her personality.

Unfortunately, it must be added, before the masculine contingent has a chance to interrupt irreverently, she isn't always able to achieve this ambitious aim.

This fall, however, Miss America—and her mother—should be able to find new headgear which is generally attractive and chic, in a variety of silhouette and colors.

The upcurving line, imparting a lift which flatters almost any face, youthful or mature, is the outstanding feature of the autumn 1945 hat designs, according to the millinery fashion bureau.

Hats as a whole will be higher than they are wide. Some stovepipe crowns will be seen, but most of the taller crowns will be molded and manipulated for greater flattery. There also will be upcurving brims in the manner of the broom, along with brims that jut up and out in front similar to a director's bucket, cut brims, narrow brims, and profile brims of various widths.

Berets and toques are another important fall fashion. They range from the simple schoolgirl beret to the sophisticated, elaborately draped toques in velvet and felt.

This season's turbans harmonize with the new contour-conscious clothes. They're varied in shape, big, elegant in detail.

For the women who feel in love with the topknot hairdo in warm weather and continue to wear it, there are occasional turbans and tall bonnets with open crowns in fall materials and colors.

There's no color that isn't good this fall. Brilliant blue is such fashion. Navy will be seen, especially smart when combined with brown, burgundy and veil. Pale ice blue, brilliant peacock and greyed blue shades will be evident. Browns range from dark rich chocolate tones through copper, rust shades to pale gold.

Greens follow the yellow green olive shades through topic tones to deep bunters green. Popular for trimming are Chinese cherry, rosy pink and "pink pink."

How about shoes? At the moment, production outlook is unpredictable, because of world conditions, the production outlook is unpredictable. But leaders in the shoe industry say the open-back, open-toed shoe so popular in spring and summer will continue in first place.

Suede will be the No. 1 material, but demand is expected to exceed supply.

Mercer Officer Dies In Crash

MERCER, Aug. 14.—Major Edgar Shucry Ingraham, who has been serving as chief of laboratory service in the 142nd base hospital in India, was killed in an airplane crash, presumably in India, on August 6, according to a war department message received by his mother, Mrs. Edgar Ingraham, of Mercer. The major would have been 35 years old Monday.

Maj. Ingraham's wife and two children were spending their vacation at Cape Cod, Mass., when the message came, and arrived by plane last night. His father was the late Dr. E. S. Ingraham who was associated with the Mercer Sanitarium.

Senate To Consider Unemployment Pay

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Sen. Walter George, D-Ga., chairman of the senate finance committee, on Monday summoned the committee to meet on Wednesday, August 29, to consider a bill to assure unemployed war workers maximum benefits of $25 a week.

The Georgia senator said that hearings on the measure would begin on the first day the committee meets, with government officials and senators as the probably first witnesses.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

should not be overlooked that while a Class B Justice of the Peace has no jurisdiction over felonies, or penitentiary offenses, all misdemeanors come under his dominion, and it is within his authority to sentence an offender to a year in the county jail or industrial camp, fine him One Hundred Dollars, or both. And that, my fellow countrymen, is no joke.

It has been my observation that a habitual scowloff or first-offender is usually ready and willing to sweeten the tilt of the Justice Court with a few paltry dollars in exoneriation of his offense, but when a month or two in the county jail is mentioned, they change expression. No one with a remaining ounce of self-esteem or pride seems to care for looking through the bars from the inside. There again the "ledge" is no longer a joke.

Frankly, in my brief experience, there have been times when it would have been more satisfactory to have sent the litigants up and released the litigants. This is not a criticism of lawyers, but they seem able to prove anything by the Bible. When becoming completely lost in the impenetrable jungles of the law, I have recourse to the legal department of the county for advice and counsel, but even that illustrious department is not averse to becoming austere and giving me distinctly to understand that while they are always pleased and willing to advise me on intricate points of law, they are most certainly not making my decisions for me nor setting my penalties. There is something headish about their reminder that that is what I am paid to do. That my guess on what penalties should be as good as anybody's, they say. Imagine that! No wonder little judges grow pompous.

But getting back to the everyday duties and responsibilities of the home town judge, it is not so much the cases of record that test the judgment or endurance of the obscure jurist. Almost any school girl could fix a schedule of fines for traffic violations, for instance. And it does not call for any straining of the mental faculties to soak a culprit for assault and battery or for disturbing the peace.

But when someone comes into the private office and closes the door behind him, or her, as they do every day of the week, that is the signal for the judge to sit up and take notice for he is about to hear something interesting. If it is a handsome young woman, it is not always the easiest thing in the world to remember you are a judge, and not just a man who is receiving a social call from a beautiful woman. One has something of grave importance, to her, on her mind and she has to tell somebody about it and possibly ask their advice. Frequently it is domestic trouble and a divorce is contemplated. They think because a justice can marry them he can also unmarry them or divorce them.

By every right the judge should stop the young woman right there and inform her that divorces are outside his jurisdiction. But a little grin from the judge and she sways the day. Human curiosity wins in a walk and with sympathetic understanding the judge relaxes and listens to the story of domestic infelicity. There are certain compensations to a justice of the peace. One of them is that the complaint is often relieved just to get it off her chest, and just as often it has happened that that is the past of it. Almost every man at some time or other has had his own imperfections to square. Sleeping over one's grievances often reduces their intensity, and tossing divorce proceedings into the legal hopper without full consideration of the consequences is frequently a happy result, and embarrassing results then to patch up the differences and going ahead with the brute. Twenty-two wedding ceremonies have been performed by this court in four months, and at least three or four prospective wrecks have been salvaged.

Furthermore, there is no ritualistic wedding code employed in this court for building palpitating hearts. I don't read any ceremony. My father was a minister and I was brought up on weddings. I take a look at the happy couple, they're happy when they come in and give them the ceremony most befitting their appearance. Only one sentence is necessary to make it binding and that is the finish when you tell them that. By virtue of the authority invested in me by the State of California, I pronounce you man and wife. Whatever else the master of ceremonies may elect to throw in is mostly to satisfy his own vanity and impress the victims with his own eminence. However, I do bear down on one admonition and that is that the ceremony does not guarantee their success or happiness. That is up to them. It only provides the right and the opportunity. And this also is a judge's responsibility that is no joke. Ask anybody who has been through it.

Then, there are the neighborhood spats. Somebody's dog is chasing somebody's cat. Some one's chickens are roosting in the neighbor's garden. There are strange goings on every night in the house across the alley, singing and carousing until all hours of the night, and, judge, it doesn't look good to me with strange men going in and out. I think you should do something about it.

Unpaid bills come in for their share of the home town dispute, and people who have been good friends and customers for years finally land in court, tell contradictory stories based on "harm done" records and expect the judge to render just and impartial decisions fair to both sides. If you are a sincere Justice of the Peace you will want to do just that, but from where you sit, what you say goes. And that is never a joke.

Very well, judge, you say. If you don't like it, you don't have to serve. And that is where the strange quirk of human nature makes its appearance. Why should any man want to sit in judgment over his neighbors' spats, quarrels, disputes and misfortunes? And if you insist upon an answer, I am compelled to confess that I guess there is a little of the lion in all of us.

Under the skin of the penguin is a layer of blubber-like fat which helps them to withstand the icy air of their habitat.

THEY USED TO CALL HER FATTY

Almost unbelievable loss of weight is possible for most overweight people through a pleasant, absolutely harmless, reducing method. THE PARENT PROBLEM do once, certainly not twice or three or four times. We don't dare do that to ourselves. On careful guard we must, therefore, ever be if we are going to avoid needless trouble to ourselves and the child.

But alas! Many of these nuisances will be practiced days and days and weeks and weeks before they ever grow conscious of their wrongness. Then, as we resolve to correct them, the resistances set up by the child are so strong and our feelings so touched by his tears and cries that we probably lose heart and surrender. Then, after a period, we set out with new resolves to attack the problem. Naturally the resistances of the child are stronger than before.

Muster Fortitude. Will we falter then or muster necessary fortitude to win? The chances are against us. Any parent reading this I guess finds many concrete instances rushing to his mind.

One thing is certain, the longer we delay decisive action, the more formidable the resistances to be overcome. When our reason rules we'll face the problem squarely, count the cost of more delay and resort to our present resources. Then we'll face forward and let up hope, win. Reflecting on our victory now we are amazed that we had lived so long before we had a backbone!

What People Say

International News Service
LONDON—Prime Minister Clement Attlee: "We must pray that the discovery which led to the production of the atomic bomb will be made to conduce to peace among the nations and that instead of wreaking measureless havoc upon the entire globe it may become a perennial fountain of world prosperity."

CHICAGO Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago: "Only through the monopoly of atomic force by a world organization can we hope to abolish war."

WASHINGTON—War Mobilizer John W. Snyder, promising to announce the government's reconversion time table: "We are working out right now the program of procedure for V-J Day and when it comes."

Hints On Etiquette

When you give a bridal shower for a girl friend, you are not obligated to invite any of her relatives, unless you wish. However, it would be more gracious if you invited her mother and sisters to the shower and the mother of her fiance.

ROACHES.

Roaches are bad company. They prefer to stay where it is dark. They tramp around over your food. They tramp around in other places too. They are not very welcome anywhere.

The best way to get rid of them is to deprive them of hiding places and food. All cracks and crevices should be filled up smooth. No place big enough to hide a roach should be left.

No crumb of food should be left where a roach can get it. Burning sulphur will kill roaches but it will burn a good place for them and will soon have plenty of company.

In ancient times (long as money was scarce) iron coins were used among the early Lacedaemonians in Sparta, Argos, Arcadia and elsewhere.

GREAT quantities of Cudahy's fine ham going to the Armed Forces for Paratrooper Pete and thousands of hungry fighting men like him. That is why you can't always get Cudahy's Puritan Deviled Ham. For it's genuine—it's made of that real ham our servicemen are getting.

So we hope you'll understand why your store may sometimes be out of Cudahy's Puritan Deviled Ham. But please keep watching for it, because we are striving to do two jobs:

1. Cooperate with the Government in helping supply every kind of meat to our fighting men.
2. As a part of this community, help supply food for all—as much and as often as possible.

Puritan Deviled Ham has been awarded Cudahy's Business Plus Product Seal shown above. This Seal is your guide to outstanding quality.

Van Zandt May Be State Candidate

Former Congressman, Vet
Of Two Wars Considered
As Possible Candidate

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)

A recent visit to Gov. Edward Martin by former congressman James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, now serving as a lieutenant commander with the Navy, has led political speculators to predict his return to public life. . . . Politicians say the 46-year-old naval officer indicated he would accept any offer by the G. O. P. to be candidate for the gubernatorial, senatorial or congressional nomination. . . . They interpret as significant his long conversations with high ranking Republicans on Capitol Hill and a whirlwind schedule of speaking tours during his 30-day leave.

Van Zandt, who has been in uniform for over two years and participated in 20 Pacific campaigns, has told friends his chief concern was assisting in winning the war. . . . He emphasized, however, that he hopes to resume his role as a politician. . . . G. O. P. leaders said he had an excellent chance to return to Congress, where he served during the 1940 and 1942 sessions. He was three times national commander-in-chief of the veterans of Foreign Wars and twice headed the Pennsylvania department. He served with the Navy in World War I and had more than 20 years training in the naval reserve between the two world conflicts.

Hang Onto Old Car: Rationing Won't End For Many Months

Auto Industry Scrambles For Materials; Quota May Be Increased Before Long

By JAMES H. SMITH

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—War-weary motorists' hopes that automobile rationing may end within four months were blasted today by a report released by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

"Reports that automobile rationing may end by January 1, 1946, are wholly without foundation," stated a report of the PMF's parent organization, the American Automobile Association.

"There is nothing like that in prospect, even if the war with Japan should end tomorrow," the report added.

"The industry is in the midst of a terrific scramble for materials. . . . free-for-all, with government taking a hands-off position as far as help is concerned," it said.

The report, prepared shortly before the Japanese government made its peace proposal to the Allies, continued:

"This is the free market for materials that the industry prefers. Because of war contracts some companies are in a much better position than others. The general view is that the quota of cars assigned for 1945-46—240,000 units—will be produced and probably well ahead of schedule.

"There is a very definite possibility that the quota will be substantially increased before long."

The report explained that new car prices were causing "more concern" than any other phase of the automobile industry's reconversion program. It pointed out, however, that the OPA was "in the midst of an attempt to reach a working formula."

Woman War Worker Reunion Is On Stabbed To Death

Committee Makes Decision At Meeting Held Monday Night On Annual Gathering

Chairman William J. Connors of the Martin Gantz Scout Reunion Association announced today following a meeting of the committee held Monday evening, that the Martin Gantz reunion, scheduled for Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Cathedral, will take place as originally planned.

Due to the uncertainty and confusion of the week, due to the many peace demonstrations, only those who have made dinner reservation will be able to be accommodated at the committee decided. It is hoped that all those who have sent in their reservations will be present, and that a memorable reunion will result.

Today Ten Year Anniversary Of Social Security

In Nation 80,000,000 Workers' Accounts; 6,132,000 In Pennsylvania In 1944

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Marking the tenth "birthday" of the Social Security Act, Peter Kasius, regional director for the Social Security Board at 11 West 42 street, New York City, announced today that total payments under the old-age and survivors insurance, employment security and public assistance programs in Pennsylvania amounted to about $620,000,000 by the first of this year. The act became law when President Roosevelt signed it August 14, 1935.

Payments to retired workers and their dependents, survivors of deceased workers, the unemployed and the needy.

In Pennsylvania, the Social Security Board has full responsibility for the old-age and survivors insurance program. However, the state administers the unemployment compensation and public assistance programs, a fact which frequently is not understood, Mr. Kasius said and explained.

Two Programs

There are two insurance programs—old-age and survivors insurance, which is a straight Federal operation, and unemployment compensation, which is run by the state with Federal collaboration. There are the public assistance programs—old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind—which are also run by the state with Federal participation in financing.

The first monthly benefits under this program were paid in Pennsylvania in April 1940. By the end of 1940, 27,100 men, women and children were on the rolls for $503,000 each month in benefits. By the end of June 30 of this year, the number had increased to 132,687 and the monthly amount of benefits to $2,476,217.

Month's Payments In State

June 1945 payments in Pennsylvania were distributed approximately as follows:

Total beneficiaries, 132,687, $2,476,217.

Retired workers aged 65 or over, $1,272, $1,246,565.34.

Wives, 65 or over, of retired workers, 16,517, $213,309.83.

Widows with young children, 16,319, $327,700.35.

Children of deceased or retired workers, 37,212, $486,037.32.

Aged widows of deceased workers, 65 or over, 10,718, $194,108.73.

Aged dependent parents of deceased workers who left no widow or child under 18, 65 or over, 649, $8,496.30.

Throughout the nation the system is providing minimum basic subsistence for more than 500,000 retired workers, and the wives of about 150,000 of them. On the survivors side, monthly benefits are provided for 83,000 aged widows, 145,000 widows with young children, 378,000 children and several thousand aged parents of deceased insured workers.

Accounts Reach 50,000,000

By the start of 1945 more than 50,000,000 workers had accounts established throughout the nation, and about half that number had earned insured status a year ago.

In this state, by the end of 1944, 6,132,000 account numbers had been established, and in 1943, the last year for which final figures are available, 4,159,000 workers had earned wage credits towards benefits. The wages credited in 1943, averaged $1,302 per worker, and by the start of 1945, total wage credits in Pennsylvania amounted to $30,747,000.

Unemployment Compensation

While unemployment compensation payments have been at low ebb during the defense and war periods, a total of $743,764,000 had been paid out in Pennsylvania since benefits payments were started in January 1938, up to January 1945. Benefit payments are slightly on the rise at the moment, due principally to cut-backs, and a further considerable increase is expected during reconstruction.

Dairy Testers Needed In State

Opportunities as Dairy Herd Improvement Association Testers are open in several counties in Pennsylvania. A course to train testers for such positions will start on Wednesday, August 22 and will continue for two weeks.

Additional information about the openings may be obtained at the Agricultural Extension Association Office, Room 206, Post Office Building.

St. Vitus Sodality Conducts Meeting

Special Religious Talks Given At Monthly Meeting Of Church Societies

At a recent meeting of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Vitus church, reports were made by various committee heads. Prefect Mary Chill was in charge and Moderator Sister M. Hildegarde gave the opening prayer.

Helen Cruden of the Eucharistic committee urged the attendance to mass, the intention being for youth. She also gave a talk on private and solemn benediction.

Josephine DeMase of Our Lady's committee spoke on the Assumption and later the group recited the litany of Loreto. The apostolic committee, Ann DeMatters, asked for used stamps and cards to be sent to missions. The meeting adjourned with the presentation of used cards and stamps.

Philomena Guido of Catholic Truth committee in conjunction with the Eucharistic committee, spoke on the vestments used by priests during benediction. She also displayed the vestments.

Social Life chairman Viola Tuscano reported on the picnic and thanked the committees.

An original playlet, "Gossiping" on Catholic action was given by the publicity committee. Those taking part were Catherine Mammarella and Dora Naples.

Thelma Phillips was chosen as the new bowling chairman, Sister Hildegarde, the moderator, spoke on the welfare of the Sodality. A letter was read from former member Carmela DeLura, now a postulant at the Order of Zealotries of Sacred Heart at New Haven Conn.

Pictures of the various May crowns and Sodality activities were shown by Margaret Valletti. September 6 is the next meeting.

Hirohito Only Man To Make Japs Quit

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A dispatch to the London Daily Mail from British southeast Asia command headquarters on Monday said that the emperor of Japan is the only man on earth who can make the Japanese garrison in Singapore and elsewhere give up their arms.

Singapore, the dispatch said, will be a test case since Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, termed the "cruelest Nippon fire-eater," recently was appointed commander in chief of troops in Malaya.

If Itagaki accepts the order to surrender, it was said, it is almost certain that garrison commanders throughout the East Indies and the southwest Pacific and China will follow suit.

Delay Printing Of Ration Books

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—An OPA spokesman said Monday that the printing of war ration book No. 3 and the new "A" ration book, both originally scheduled for distribution between Dec. 3 and 15, is being delayed pending official designation of VJ-day.

The present gasoline ration book expires Dec. 21, and current food and shoe stamps are scheduled to be used late in December. Ration book No. 5 was slated to go into effect after Jan. 1.

The OPA disclosed on July 24 that 150 million copies of ration book 3, which would be half the size of the present book, would be printed and distributed.

That Ain't The Way We Heard It, Nip

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—A Domei agency correspondent attempted today to minimize the damage inflicted by an American atomic bomb upon Hiroshima last week.

According to the Jap-controlled Singapore radio, the Domei writer reported after visiting the devastated city, that the air raid soldiers "were quite strong enough to resist the explosion."

"Although the destructive power of the new atom bomb must not be unduly limited, there is much exaggeration about this in the American press," the enemy broadcast quoted the correspondent as saying. CBS heard the Singapore transmission.

TWIN CALVES BORN

GROVE CITY, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Herbert Kent, R. D. 3, Grove City, is the proud owner of twin better calves, born August 10 to his prize black Jersey cow, Bessie. The birth of twin calves, an unusual event in itself, was highly pleasing to the owner, but the fact that they are both healthy, well, he really feels that his crop has come in.

Tigers Defeat Yankees Twice And Pad Lead

Senators Split With Browns To Drop Three Games Behind; Cubs Pad Lead

BOSTON BRAVES DEFEAT PIRATES

By CHARLES EINHORN

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Yankees should suddenly remember the name of the Buffalo home team, as the Yankees dropped two to the Senators yesterday, 15 to 4 and 11 to 9.

The result gave the Tigers a three-game edge over the runner-up Washington Senators, who split with the St. Louis Browns. St. Louis took the first one, 4-2, but the Nats hammered out an 11 to 3 victory in the afternoon.

Yanks Slip

Also as a result of their double defeat the Yanks dropped from third place to fourth on the A. L. ladder. The Chicago White Sox moved up into third on wings of a 4 to 3 11-inning victory over the Philadelphia A's in a night game.

All in all, it was a monstrous day in big league baseball. There were 10 games played, and two of them resulted in shutout victories, but with it all the so-called major leaguers managed to score the amazing total of 114 runs for and against each other.

The Cleveland Indians hammered out a 10 to 6 whitewash triumph over the Boston Sox.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phils 4-1.

Cards Win in 15th

Final score of the St. Louis-Brooklyn tilt was 11 to 10, while the Boston Braves scored a 6 to 4 triumph over the Pirates.

The Cincinnati Reds were the victims of the other shutout, perpetrated in the majors yesterday. The New York Giants applied a 2 to 0 whitewash to the hapless Redlegs, who have not won a game since the start of their invasion of the East last week. They've lost 10 in a row.

Atlanta is one of the chief military positions in Ireland. The fortifications once covered 15 acres and contained the barracks for 1,500 men. They later are dismantled. The town is 75 miles west of Dublin.

Shenango Pottery Defeats Lockleys

Shenango Pottery with Greg Ross in shape defeated the Lockley Machines last night at Pottery field, 5 to 0, to further increase their lead in the Industrial Softball league second-half race. Ross gave up but three hits and hit a screaming homer to aid his victory. It was the third win for Ross, the veteran soldier, since returning home from the South Pacific wars.

Bob Pascarella, the veteran, was touched for seven hits as the Pottery dashed to victory. Wednesday the Pottery play the Standard Steel team at Pottery field with Manager Italo Amodeo pitching either Kendra or Santangelo, opposing Bishara.

Second-Half In County League May End Today

Moose Playing At Wampum; Ellwood City At Edenburg In Postponed Games

Lawrence County baseball league's torrid second-half race may come to an end tonight. There are two postponed games being played—Moose club at Wampum and Ellwood City at Edenburg. Both games start at six o'clock.

If the Moose win tonight, the second-half race is theirs, but if the Moose lose to Wampum and Ellwood defeats Edenburg, it will mean the playing of more postponed games to decide the flag winner.

Moose Must Win

The Moose have won 10 and lost three to date. Ellwood has won nine and lost five. There is still a possibility that the second-half race can end in a deadlock. The Moose have to win one and Ellwood must lose tonight to make the Moose champions of the second half. Hillsville upset the dope last Sunday with a 14 to 0 win over the Moose. In event of a Moose win tonight, the championship series with Ellwood starts Thursday evening at Ellwood City.

Elks Golfers Play Tonight

Elks Looking Forward To Great Day Sunday At Sylvan Heights Course

The Elks club golfers will go to the Sylvan Heights course tonight for another round of golf in their league. The matches will start at 6 o'clock.

There is a red-hot fight going on between the Marines and Pan-Americans for first place in the second half.

The Elks are looking forward to this coming Sunday, August 19, when 17 Elks lodges from northwestern Pennsylvania will send golfers here for the big Elks roundup and all-day golf that gets under way at 8 o'clock. Several hundred Elks golfers will make the local "mum" course their rendezvous Sunday and are looking forward to a big time.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

TWO minor leaguers have been acquired by major league clubs. . . . One is Roy Zimmerman, hard-hitting first sacker of the Newark club of the International League, obtained by the Giants, and the other is Sherman Lollar, Baltimore's power-hitting catcher, picked up by the Cleveland Indians. Zimmerman has been in the minors since 1937. . . . He was in the Yankee chain, playing for Kansas City. He hit only four homers last year but has blossomed out into a slugging first baseman, having socked 31 round-trippers this season. Lollar also is a home hitter, having batted .347 this year. He is hitting .367 for Baltimore and is expected to report next season with the Tribe.

Brooko Nagurski, the old football and wrestling hero, has indicated a comeback to the grid after a somewhat question in "rookie" college knees. Doesn't the grid look when it's all over? . . . Football dope, beginning to hit the street, the sports magazines are featuring the arrival of the pre-training race between the All-Star game is on. . . . Yep, it's about time for the moviegoers to be dragged out. . . . Ed Jones, the one-armed giant of Tulsa University football team, the last two years, has announced he will accept a pro football offer from Boston. Hats off, gentlemen, to a real athlete star.

You may have noticed the news of the death of Harry Hillman, track coach at Dartmouth College since 1910. Hillman was one of the great men in American athletics. . . . In the 1904 Olympic games in St. Louis, Hillman won the 400 meter, the 800 meter, and the 1,600 meter. . . . During his years as track coach at Dartmouth, Hillman developed many stars including Dan, Bill, and Earl Thompson.

He was born in Brooklyn in 1896. . . . Joe, ex-Gladiator Hardest, came out of baseball, having been a pitcher in the minor leagues. . . . He was dropped out of the sport in his rookie season of 1933. . . . National League games caught it about to be cracked by Al Lopez, the veteran receiver of the Pirates. Lopez scored something like 20 games in his career. . . . Hardest's mark Hardest scored behind the plate for 22 years, but Lopez has been in the majors only since 1932.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

INTERVIEWED NEW SERVICE Sports Writer

PARIS, Aug. 14 (AP)—More than 1,000,000 able-bodied young Americans are engaged throughout Europe in the greatest athletic program ever devised, and out of this battle organized competition may come the champions of tomorrow. But Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan and the best of the club-swingers need not worry for the time being.

Strangely, golf—which back home ranks second only to boxing as a participant sport—must be most neglected among our sports which a few weeks ago were shaking it with the late unemployed.

Golf is something most of the people in this part of the world managed to elude during the last half century while Americans have pursued the thing with increasing interest and frequent skill-drawings with the little woman who has come to be known as a golf widow.

Need More Sports

Nothing like that goes on over here. Perhaps that's what is the matter with people who persist in thinking wars. Some one suggested that the best way to stop these international blood-bathings would be to take away the guns and give the cantankerous Europeans and Asians and baseball bats.

In this connection, Maj. Gen. Ben Sawyer, who is running the sports program in Europe, had the press.

"The best possible education program for the Germans would be for us to teach them to play."

An interesting fact in this connection is that not one of the well-known American sports writers on this European tour could name a famous German golf professional.

There isn't so much covered mail," said Capt. Lord Mangan, who had won the European theatre professional championship.

Russ Flaxing Soldier

But those Germans have been so busy playing soldier then trying to make it stick that they simply have not had time for such things as all the story goes.

Maybe we will be able to teach them to play. They no doubt consider it a strange race of incredulous chinkie people with our way of doing things, even as putting the tags of the 48 states atop Northrup stadium and then playing games in there right after finding the worst way in history.

They have observed our G.I.s chasing football, beating the snuff-box out of baseballs, punting each other in the nose in boxing bouts and finally chasing that

Market Traders in Bullish Mood As Jap Surrender Appears Im-
minent Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Stock market traders were in a bullish frame of mind today awaiting official announcement of the Japanese surrender. The list was led by sizable fractions higher in early trading with a few scattered individual stocks out in front with point gains.

Trading slowed along at slightly more than 200,000 shares in the first hour.

Motors had a strong undertone. Chrysler and General Motors gained a large fraction. Recent pressure on rails seemed to fade a number of leading carriers picking up a few points.

Aviations were mixed. Copey, Imperial and Communications were strong and higher. Oils and utilities edged lower.

Bonds continued firm.

Alleged Whiskey Theft Is Probed At Philadelphia

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Auditor General G. Harold Wagner called upon the State Liquor Control Board today to explain circumstances surrounding the alleged theft of 1049 cases of liquor valued at $29,941.20 from a Philadelphia warehouse.

In a letter to board chairman Frederick T. Gelder, Wagner said investigators found the loss "resulted from thefts and switches in code numbers." Gov. Edward Martin received a copy of the letter.

"Under the circumstances," Wagner stated in the letter, "I shall appreciate if you will advise me of what steps, if any, have been taken to protect the interest of the commonwealth; the names of the individuals, if known, who are responsible for the loss, and what has been done or is being done to safeguard against similar losses in the future, bearing in mind that certain liquors are presently available to the general public under a rationing system.

After dispatching the letter, Wagner said similar investigations would be made of stocks in warehouses at Pittsburgh, Erie and Scranton.

Army Is Prepared To Operate Japan

Hundreds Of Army Officers Trained In Japanese Language And Customs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—The army is amply prepared today for the job of running Japan.

Since last fall, it was disclosed, hundreds of army officers have been undergoing basic training for military government assignments in Japan immediately upon the end of the war.

In classes of 200 each, the officers have been receiving two months of training in military government at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. Afterward they are sent to other universities for six months additional training in the Japanese language and geography and history of Japan.

Some of the officers have long since graduated from the eight-month course of instruction and are waiting only for V-J day to take up their duties of running the Japanese nation.

War department spokesmen said the course of training is along the same pattern as that given military government officers assigned to Germany. Originally civilians were commissioned for military government posts but this practice was discontinued late in 1943.

Candidates for military government work now are selected from the army by the selection branch of the military government division in Washington.

Will Not Induct Discharged Vets

War Department Says It Will Not Induct Men With Records And Discharge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS)—Former members of the armed forces who have had long and honorable service were free today from reinduction under selective service and war department policy.

This was announced by the war department in response to inquiries about draft of men previously discharged from the army.

"It is not the desire or intent of selective service or the war department to reinduct former members of the armed forces who have had long and honorable service, unless they volunteer for further service," the army stated.

Details of the announced reinduction policy follow.

An honorably discharged officer normally is placed in an inactive status for the duration of the war plus six months, but he is subject to call.

An officer with an other than honorable discharge is subject to induction only if the war department waives its original action.

An enlisted personnel discharged for any reason are completely separated from the military service.

Those discharged under the readjustment regulations are precluded from reinduction unless they volunteer. Those honorably discharged for reasons other than readjustment may be drafted if conditions for which discharged was given change.

Youth Held In Slaying Case

Fifteen-Year-Old Jeddie Howells Alleged To Have Confessed Rifle Slaying

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 14.—(INS)—Fifteen-year-old Jeddie L. Howells, of Wilkes-Barre, R. D. 1, was in the custody of state police today charged with suspicion of murder in connection with the slaying of Willard Frey, 44, of Wilkes-Barre.

Bullet wounds from a .22 calibre rifle disfigured the victim's face, head and chest, according to police. The partially clothed body was discovered Saturday near a spring by Mr. Herbert Brown and his wife, of Wilkes-Barre, while seeking water.

The youth confessed the slaying, according to State Police Sgt. Paul Ryan, of the Wyoming barracks. He was taken into custody Sunday. Frey, whose car was found at Brodheadville in the Pocono mountains about 50 miles from the scene of the crime, had gone to the spring for water, according to his parents. They said the reason their son probably was shirtless was because he was accustomed to taking sun baths for a recent injury. Police said pockets in Frey's pants had been turned inside out.

Police took the youth to a spot in the Poconos in an effort to recover the weapon.

Aged Burglar's Career Is Ended By Police Bullet

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 14.—(INS)—The career of a 73-year-old burglar and old-time man who had spent most of the last 32 years in jails and prisons of the middle west, was ended today by a police bullet.

He was James Ryan, whose record shows terms served in the Ohio state penitentiary, Detroit, Mich., Ann Arbor, Mich., and other cities.

Attorney Glenn R. Beverly, 60, of Elgin was awakened in his bedroom shortly before dawn by Ryan. Ryan turned the lawyer with a blow in the face and left with Beverly's wallet containing $475.

He stopped on the porch to put on his shoes and lace them. The police appeared and, when Ryan fled, shot him fatally.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

(International News Service)

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today faces the same problem that has always dogged his efforts for China—the problem of forging a united nation.

Victory over Japan after years of bitter, costly warfare is certain for the orphan lad who rose to lead the only Chinese regime recognized by the United States. But victory for his people will prove sweet only if internal difficulties that have caused deep cleavages among them are overcome.

China has always sought peace, harmony and prosperity for his long-exploited, naturally rich land. From the days he participated in the revolutionary war of Dr. Sun Yat-sen against the Manchurian tyranny he lived with the dream of a tranquil China.

Today's headlines of Chiang's race against Chinese communist forces to grab what arms are to be reaped from surrendering Japanese troops are reminiscent of news stories of old. They recall the time he was "kidnaped" by red forces, taken to Szechuan capital of Chengdu, and later released unharmed.

The generalissimo learned something while held in Szechuan. Several of his captors were given high office, and communist troops served under him in battling the Japs.
